BANKS HIT AT SCRIP

Push Bonds Despite Law

Champion Swimmer To Natate Here

TORONTO, June 17.—"Prosperity certificates" issued by Premier Aberhart's Social Credit government in Alberta would not be legal tender, presidents of three large Canadian banks said last night.

The banker's opinion of the $1 and $5 certificates the Alberta government proposes to issue was they would be useless outside of Alberta and would be inaccepted able to banks outside the province. They would be accepted by banks in Alberta "only by special arrangement." They could not be put through bank clearance.

C. H. Carlisle, president of the Dominion Bank of Canada, and John R. Lamb, president of the Bank of Toronto, agreed the certificates would not be legal tender. Asked if his bank would handle the certificates, Mr. Carlisle replied, "Not without a government guarantee that they will be redeemed in currency."

NOT LEGAL TENDER

The third bank president, who refused permission to use his name, also said the certificates would not be legal tender.

"In any event it would be no good outside the borders of Alberta," he said. "It can't be successful because a merchant can't accept the scrip and pay his bills outside the province."

SCRIP WILL BE ACCEPTED FOR TAX PAYMENTS

Premier Acquiescent if Bonds Not Returned Within One Month

Providing prosperity certificates do not come back to the government in less than one month after they are issued, they will be accepted in payment of taxes or other payments due to the government, Premier William Aberhart stated on Wednesday.

Asked what action would be taken regarding a $1 certificate presented on a 15 cent purchase, the Premier said that it was up to the merchant whether he gave any change, but suggested that probably most of the merchants would give no change, but would give the tenderer of the certificate credit for the balance of the amount of the certificate's face value.

Asked whether the certificates were related in any way to the clearing houses that would be established to clear basic dividends, the Premier said that the state credit houses were instruments by which the certificates would be cleared, which would later be used as clearing the dividends.

Asked to explain the term "real Social Credit" which he used on Tuesday in an interview the Premier said it was "the basic dividend from our own production which will be made available to the consumers of this province."

COAST TYCOON SAYS GERMANY PREPARES WAR

Chris Spencer of Vancouver Finds Nazi and Air-Minded

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 17.—Germany may be cheating peaceful intentions but Germany is preparing for war. She is forcing the other nations into a situation rapidly approaching that of 1913 and 1914, said Chris Spencer, president of David Spencer, Ltd., in a report of his recent tour of Europe.

Germany has spent the equivalent of $7½ billions on military preparations in the last five years. All munition factories were running full blast 24 hours a day when Mr. Spencer was there. Preparations of every kind are on an enormous scale.

Reoccupation of the Rhineland has restored the self-respect of the nation. There is no poverty in Germany that the casual visitor can see. Opera houses and theatres are crowded continually just like Canadian picture houses.

And Germany is decidedly air-minded. People go by air just as they do here by train or bus. There are 30 air services out of Berlin to all parts of Europe every day.

Mr. Spencer became air-minded himself and experienced one of the thrills of his life in flying from Vancouver to New York and from London to Berlin and Paris.

Reverting again to Germany, he told, with obvious indignation, of his first-hand observation of the pitiful life of the Jews of that country.

The contrast between Germany and England is notable. A great building program is going on all over the Old Country. In London and its suburbs the building is on an enormous scale. He saw one great apartment set which is designed to house 10,000 people.

All England has been and is hearing continually about Vancouver's Golden Jubilee and is showing great interest in the event. "It is the greatest advertisement Vancouver has ever had," he said.

U.S. Senator Dies

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida died suddenly today at his home.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., June 17.—The Alberta government has no intention of "blacklisting" merchants who refuse to handle "prosperity bonds," Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister without portfolio, told the Board of Trade here Tuesday.

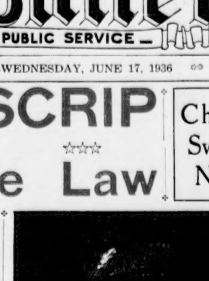

He said, however, that lists of wholesale and retail merchants who would co-operate by accepting the bonds for goods would be published by the government on their issue early in July.

Asked what the government would do if the scrip were declared illegal under the terms of the Canada Bank Act, Mr. Maynard emphasized that, whether it was legal or not, if the plan received the co-operation of the people sufficiently to keep it operating the government would hesitate a long time before dropping the plan.

"If it will bring back prosperity to Alberta, if it will put the unemployed at work instead of on the dole, we will see let the law stand in the way," he said. "If it will do that, then the law which says the certificates are illegal should be changed, and the people will demand that it should be changed."

Mr. Maynard gave no set speech at the meeting, devoting his time

PREMIER SAYS IS NEUTRAL IN CAMPAIGN

Social Credit Leader Not Behind Candidate As Claimed

Confirming his own earlier statements and the stand of the Edmonton central executive of the Social Credit League, Premier William Aberhart on Wednesday declared that he was taking an absolutely neutral stand in the city by-election of June 23, and is emphatic endorsation of the fact that no organized Social Credit influence has been directed in support of any campaign.

Street rumors apparently emanating from Alderman Margaret Craig's committee rooms and intended to create the impression the Premier has let it be known he would like Social Crediters to back that candidate have been circulated, but the Premier's emphatic statement that he is taking no part in the campaign refutes and nullifies the rumors.

DID NOT WANT ELECTION

When the Social Credit executive almost unanimously decided to request out of the by-election, the Premier expressed his satisfaction at the action and hoped that a certain could be avoided, as it would entail unnecessary expense, especially as a general election had been so recently held.

Conservatives took their cue and feeling that the seat had been won by the Liberals with such a handsome majority, that it should be left to be known by the next election again threw it open.

In emphatically making known his neutral attitude, the Premier prior to his departure on Wednesday for Calgary, said:

"I am taking no part in the by-election. The affairs of the province are too strenuous at the present time to permit of such action. I am leaving the city today and will not return until after the election. I hope the electors will turn out in large numbers and express their opinions."

SANCTIONS ARE DROPPED TODAY

LONDON, June 17.—The British cabinet placed the final seal of authority on the government's decision to drop sanctions today. The House of Commons will hear the announcement of the new Italo-Ethiopian policy tomorrow.

Parliamentary circles expected the British support for the withdrawal of sanctions against Italy would be linked with a demand for guarantees that Il Duce will not discriminate against non-Fascist countries when trade channels are reopened.

Coincidentally, Sir Samuel Hoare, new First Lord of the Admiralty, assured Commons today the government will not abandon Malta.

MYSTERY SHIP MAY BE WRECK

CAYENNE, French Guiana, June 17.—The mysterious British motor vessel, Girl Pal, was reported today to have taken on fresh water June 13 at Isles Du Salut (the Devil's Island penal group) and to have departed without clearance.

NASSAU, The Bahamas, June 17. — Reports from the Out Islands in the Eastern Bahamas today told of the finding of the bodies of three white men beside a small vessel wrecked on a reef.

A meagre description of the craft indicated it might be the Girl Pal, an English boat reported stolen from Grimsby, England, six weeks ago by a party of artists who came to these islands in it to look for buried gold.

The three dead men were buried by the crew of the Acklins Island sloop Dove, who found them.

Government Ready To Redeem Scrip From Wholesalers

Alderman Elisha East Tells Committee Bonds Will be Accepted at Any Time at Face Value.

Provincial government will be prepared to redeem "prosperity bonds" at face value at any time in cases where wholesale houses need cash to meet "doubt demand" commitments outside of Alberta. Ald. Elisha East, Social Credit councillor, told the civic finance committee Tuesday when answering the argument that wholesalers could not accept the bonds because their purchases beyond the limits of Alberta would have to be paid for in cash.

The finance committee discussed this point in connection with the proposal that Edmonton co-operate with the government by accepting a certain amount of the "prosperity" issue in payment for relief costs, and also as a means of promoting an unemployment works program.

TWO FOR ONE

Ald. East declared that for every dollar the city gave the Alberta government, the province would be willing to give Edmonton bonds equivalent to $2 as a provincial contribution for direct relief purposes. He further stated that as far as he knew the government did not intend to retain cash grants from

LOST MISSION AGAIN REPORTS

TORONTO, June 17.—The Sudan interior mission today received the first word in three months from Laibella, sacred city in northern Ethiopia which war operations cut off from outside communication.

A message came from two missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Ogglesby, that was dispatched May 17, the day Italian forces entered the city.

The missionaries, who had looked after 300 to 400 wounded Ethiopian soldiers in the preceding months, commented on the courtesy of Italians occupying the city. Before the troops arrived the Italians flew food in by plane and dropped it by parachute to missionaries whose supplies were running low.

Laroche contended he used home-made tobacco and that his wife often had remarked about the peculiar odor of his breath after he smoked.

TWO OUT OF NUMBER HELD TO BE VALID

Reform Acts Passed Upon by Canadian Supreme Tribunal Finds Tie Vote in Three Instances—Minimum Wages Affected

OTTAWA, June 17.—The Supreme Court of Canada in judgments rendered today, found constitutional two of the eight "reform" statutes referred to it, declared one partly valid, two ultra vires the parliament of Canada, and returned tie verdicts on three.

To the question: "Is the (name of act), or any of the provisions thereof, and in what particular or particulars, or to what extent, ultra vires of the parliament of Canada?" the answers in brief were:

Section 498A of the criminal code—Valid.

Dominion Trade and Industry Commission Act—Partly valid.

Employment and Social Insurance Act—Invalid.

Weekly Day of Rest in Industrial Undertakings Act—Tie verdict.

Minimum Wages Act—Tie verdict.

Limitation of Hours of Work Act—Tie verdict.

Natural Products Marketing Act—Invalid.

Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act—Valid.

TWO CONSTITUTIONAL

Of the eight laws, two were found constitutional—the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, a device to scale down farm debts, and section 498A of the criminal code, which imposed fines and imprisonment for unethical business practices as recommended by the price spreads commission.

Two were found invalid—the Employment and Social Insurance Act under which men and women could contribute a portion of their wages and receive weekly doles when they lost their jobs, and the Natural Products Marketing Act, a statute enabling groups of producers of natural products to set prices and regulate the marketing of their products. They were two of the most important of the eight laws.

SPLIT ON 3 LAWS

The judges split 3-3 on three of the statutes—minimum wages, 48-hour week and a weekly day of rest. Upholding the laws with the exception of one section of the Minimum Wage Act were Chief Justice Duff and Judge Davis and Mr. Kerwin. Finding them unconstitutional were Judges Rinfret, Cannon and Crockett.

One statute was found to be invalid in part, the one establishing a trade and industry commission as a sort of referee over business as recommended by the Price Spreads Commission. The court found unanimously that section 14, one of the main clauses empowering the commission to approve price and production agreements among business rivals, was unconstitutional. Another section found to be unconstitutional designated the words "Canada standard" as a national trademark.

WILL BE APPEALED

The judgments of the court will be appealed to the privy council in England, either by the provinces or the Dominion, depending upon the verdict in each case.

The judgment of the court is not binding and does not wipe the unconstitutional laws off the statute books. It is merely an opinion of the court.

The 3-3 split on the three "treaty laws"—minimum wages, 48-hour week and weekly day of rest—really will have no effect because it is not binding. It will be appealed to the privy council, probably by Joint action of the Dominion and provincial governments. The judgment will be final although not binding on any lower court.

Pending the privy council appeal, it is unlikely parliament will do anything to amend the unconstitutional laws. Certainly not at this session.

Section 498A of the Criminal Code, one of the first major results of the long price spreads investigation, was held valid legislation by the Supreme Court of Canada.

UNFAIR COMPETITION

It was aimed at correction of abuses in business and elimination of unfair methods of competition in wholesale and retail trade.

The court was unanimous in holding subsections B and C of the enactment valid but split on subsection A with the majority holding it valid. Chief Justice Duff, Justices Rinfret, Davis and Kerwin wrote the majority judgment while Justices Cannon and Crocket held subsection A invalid and subsections B and C valid.

The majority judgment held the whole section which makes it an offence punishable by fine and imprisonment to take part in a transaction discriminating against competitors of the purchaser by granting special rebates or discounts, engages in a policy of selling goods in one part of Canada at lower prices than in other parts for the purpose of destroying competition or engages in a policy of selling goods at unreasonably low prices for the purpose of destroying competition, cannot properly within the scope of criminal law.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., June 17.—An oil refinery fire in which 12 persons were burned seriously was brought under control today in time to save a 15,000,000-barrel tank farm.

The fire followed a terrific explosion at the Producers' Oil Refinery last night. Physicians said four of the injured might die.

Bits of white hot metal were thrown more than 200 feet. As 250 men and all fire department equipment rushed to the scene, the flames spread to eight homes on the refinery lease.

Journal's Safe - Blowing Denial Fades Before Actual Proof

Despite denials in the Edmonton Journal that a series of safe-blowings at widely separated points in the province was occupying the attention of the police, and that two "mobs" of expert safe-blowers were believed operating in Alberta, police are still active in endeavoring to cope with the situation.

Official sources are giving out no information whatever, enquiries being met with the terse "nothing to say" at both city and Mounted Police headquarters, but activities at both headquarters have been redoubled.

In contrast to the Journal denial The Bulletin has secured the following authentic information:

instead to answering a questionnaire sent him by the board.

The prosperity bond sinking fund will be kept intact for the redemption of certificates, Mr. Maynard said. It will not be used to pay savings certificates or bond interest.

Prosperity bonds will be accepted by the government in payment of provincial taxes, such as gasoline and income taxes.

TO ACCEPT SCRIP

During a period of each month, from the seventh to the twelfth, the government will accept the scrip from wholesalers, giving them effective demand through a prosperity bond clearing house to be set up. These funds may be used for demands outside the province, as they will represent and be backed by legal tender.

The minister declared that when scrip is accepted each month, it may again be given out by the government.

Members of the Aberhart cabinet will be the first to accept prosperity bonds in payment as part of their salaries, he said. If the bonds are not acceptable the ministers will issue no more.

BONDS TO BE REDEEMED AT FACE VALUE

the Dominion earmarked for civic relief. Cash would be paid over to Edmonton, the Alberta bonds being an additional contribution to the city.

Setting at rest fears of Edmonton businessmen that they would receive such a large volume of the bonds that they would be unable to meet their cash obligations outside of Alberta, the alderman said the government would be ready to redeem at any time certificates which business firms found necessary to "cash in" in order to meet dollar demands for goods bought outside the province. The province will be able to take care of external trade obligations with the dollars in cash we give them," he said.

BIT DUBIOUS

Ald. R. E. Foote was a bit dubious about the success of the bond scheme. The government, he said, would not assume any responsibility for the exchange paper until $1.04 worth of stamps had been affixed to a dollar bond—a one-cent stamp each week for two years.

"What I want to know is what 'saw-off' Edmonton will get if it agrees to co-operate with the government on this bond issue," he said. The alderman stated there were about 2,700 unemployed married men on relief in the city at the present time, and he was of the opinion that if the civic administration decided to accept a certain amount of the issue the government should be prepared to put a large number of these men to work on unemployed projects.

Commissioner David Mitchell was worried about the possibility of the city losing the cash relief payment from the federal government as a result of the province's bond scheme. "What Edmonton needs is more money from

The second feature of the bill is "The Girl from Mandalay," with Conrad Nagel and Kay Linaker, dynamic new star.

The unsurpassed jungle settings, perfectly photographed, split the honors with the combined effervescence of the three stellar performers. Miss Linaker, tall and strikingly brunette, was acclaimed by most critics as being a distinguished addition to the screen. Esther Ralston adds much to the production.

STRAND

One of the most lavishly appointed pictures both as to costumes and settings will be disclosed with the showing of "The Golden Arrow," which comes to the Strand theatre today, with Bette Davis in the stellar role and George Brent as the leading man.

The play, by the famous English dramatist, Michael Arlen, is perhaps the most richly mounted society play to date, and First National is said to have spared no effort in making the picture conform to all the gorgeousness of the comedy drama.

"Since the main characters in this story are supposed to be the richest people in the world, it was necessary to go the limit in making their environment as luxurious as possible," said Director Alfred E. Green. "A false note would have spoiled the illusion, so this richness extends even to the smallest prop, the rugs, the hangings, the picture. The story would have been lost in anything but the most elaborate production."

YOUTHS ESCAPE AS BOAT HITS POWER WIRES

REGINA, June 17.—The life of a jolly tar received a shock when the 18-foot racing sloop sailed by young Dick Eddy and Jack Hilditch, on Lake Wascana, ran under high tension power lines, with which the wire mast stay came in contact. Dick was knocked flat as he held onto the stays with 2,200 volts grounding through the boat. Four times the wires touched and each time breaker fuses in the city power house were blown with the report of a cannon. Flames shot eight feet out from the top of the sail each time it struck the wires, and the steel runway track up the side of the mast was melted, the sail burned and boat damaged.

A motor boat towed the sailors to safety.

the Dominion instead of less," he averred, adding that the value of the Alberta prosperity bonds had yet to be demonstrated.

"If our credit is cut down it is going to have a crippling effect on our operations," he commented.

COMPETITION

Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., took the view that acceptance of the new Alberta bond issue would be governed by business competition. Those firms which refused to accept the certificates would lose business to the firms which would accept them. He referred particularly to one retail merchant who had announced he was ready to take the bonds in payment for goods.

Citing one instance in which bonds would prove a detriment, Ald. Foote outlined a hypothetical case in which a person held a one dollar certificate for two years without turning it over. "It would mean that such a person would give the government a gift of $1.04 cents," he explained.

Ald. E. East came back at him with the statement that such a person would be unnecessarily penalizing himself.

"A desperate situation calls for experiment," commented Ald. James East.

SUPPORTS PLAN

Ald. W. W. Clevely told the committee he supported the prosperity bond plan providing it meant work for men on relief in Edmonton. If it would give jobs to the out-of-works he was ready to admit that it was an excellent idea.

Ald. E. East and Ald. Guy Patterson, together with the three city commissioners, will confer with the government's agent in securing co-operation between the province and the city on the bond proposal.

BANKERS SAY SCRIP IS NOT LEGAL TENDER of Toronto, both experts in political economy, also agreed the Alberta government would meet with difficulties in overcoming the legal difficulty surrounding the issuance of currency.

"The power to issue money is a federal matter," stated Professor Joseph Parkinson. "I think it will be discovered that any scrip with the power of money is ultra vires the province." Anything short of a scrip, which had the power of money would not be much good to Aberhart," he said.

Professor D. C. MacGregor, lecturer in political economy declared the only legal tender in Canada was Bank of Canada notes and coin.

PROMISSORY NOTES

"He would issue promissory notes, I suppose, anyone has that right. Or anyone could issue marked cheques and they might easily circulate as money. What the federal government attitude on the matter would be I do not know.

"It is a matter for the Dominion or the supreme court to decide whether this is currency," he said.

RIGHTISTS TO TREK ON PARIS

PARIS, June 17—French Leftists clamored today for quick governmental action against 100,000 armed Rightists accused of preparing to march on Paris.

From Leftist quarters came the assertion "The Fascists" were ready to make such a march in order to prevent the Popular Front government from carrying out its program of legislation.

Warning of "political action" by the Rightist Croix de Feu (Fiery Cross) heightened the Popular Front government's problems.

Man Missing

Missing since early Tuesday, Leslie Reilly, 50, 10314 116 street, is being sought by city police, who have been asked by Mrs. Reilly to locate her husband. When last seen, Reilly was wearing a dark blue suit, and a grey cap. He has two artificial legs and carries a cane.

CATERPILLARS SCORE VICTORY OVER C. N. TRAIN

FORT WILLIAM, June 17.—Caterpillars counted a victory over a train last night.

The crawlers crept on to the tracks of the Canadian National Railways Monday, clustered themselves in thick masses and stopped the mixed train en route to Mackie at Mile 24, two miles west of Nolalu. Other trains made only half their speed because of the slippery condition of the tracks.

But the railway officials think they have found a solution. They are equipping an engine with steam jet blower which will emit steam at a pressure of 200 pounds per square inch. Then the engine will be sent on the job of blowing the caterpillars from the tracks. It will start its work Thursday.

NOTED ACTOR WALTHALL DIES

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 17—Henry B. Walthall, the Little Colonel of the silent screen classic, "Birth of a Nation," died in a sanitarium today. He was 55.

The gray-haired actor, native of Shelby City, Ala., entered the Pasteur sanitarium si nearby Monrovia three weeks ago for treatment of a chronic ailment. He had collapsed after completing the role of an airplane inventor in the film, "China Clipper," still unreleased.

He began his screen career in 1910 after stage experience with Henry Miller, under the direction of D. W. Griffith. Walthall gained stardom, then saw his prominence fade. When talkies came in, his stage work gave him a new start, and he was active of late years.

His widow, Mary Charleson Walthall, former stage actress, and a daughter, Mary Patricia, 18, survive.

MANY ATTEND GRIT MEETINGS TUESDAY NIGHT

Dr. Walter Morrish Given Warm Welcome Throughout the City

Turning out in numbers which made it one of the outstanding meetings of the present by-election campaign electors of the Alberta Avenue and Norwood districts jammed the Alberta Avenue community hall on Tuesday night to hear Dr. Walter Morrish and other Liberal speakers.

GIVEN OVATION

The candidate was given an ovation on arrival and subsequently in the course of a brief address, said that he was delighted to represent the Liberal party, because if elected, he felt that he could do something for the benefit of all the people, along lines of which he had some knowledge. He did claim to know something about health problems, for he had practiced as a physician in the prairie country, in the wooded country north of the city, and in the city, and this experience had fitted him to know what was required. Further, he had a good insight into educational affairs, derived from two terms as a member of the public school board, one of which he had served as chairman. His interests are with the common people and if he was not convinced that the Liberal party stands for the advancement of the common people, he would not stay with the party.

"There is no place in Alberta for Coonism," said Gerald O'Connor, M.L.A., speaking in support of Dr. Morrish. He referred to the fact that the Communist had announced they would not run a candidate if Miss Crang entered the fight. That had happened, and now a Communist committee, of which Jan Lakeman is president, is working on behalf of Miss Crang.

VAN ALLEN SPEAKS

G. H. Van Allen, K.C., M.L.A., said that the selection of Dr. Morrish as candidate was no accidental choice. They knew his tremendous interest in social matters, his ability as a physician, and his knowledge of educational affairs. Such men are needed in the legislature, for in all the house of 65 members there are only two medical doctors. Yet the health department of the province is one of immense importance. The knowledge of men like Dr. Morrish is needed and for that reason he should be elected.

During the evening, dancing was led by an excellent band. In addition songs were sung by Miss Margaret Taylor, and Ronnie Skoon, and Mrs. J. Scott gave a violin solo.

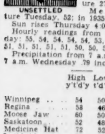

Congratulations were accorded Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, who was convener of the committee. The other members of the committee were Mrs. J. Sims, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, A. R. McLennan, D. Duncan, A. Rendell and W. Horrocks.

BARTER OFFER MADE CITY ON POWER MACHINE

Prepared to accept wheat in payment for machinery required by the Edmonton power plant, a Swiss machinery firm, through its Montreal agents, informed Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., of this fact over long-distance telephone Wednesday morning. The company stated that such a barter was quite common in Switzerland and that the firm would be willing to supply equipment to the city on this basis.

The mayor said he had requested the company to confirm this offer by wire before commissioners took action on the offer.

Brotherhood Honors Veteran Railmen

When members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railroad Conductors joined in honoring a number of retiring railmen from the railroad recently, they also honored two railroadmen who are still in harness. During the evening given over to the Old Timers, Dan McDonald, local chairman of the B. of L.E., called Bob Acton, left, and Charlie A. Smith, right, both still active in the cab, to the front, and to the accompaniment of great applause he decorated each of them with gold badges as Past Chief Engineer's of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

FIRST SALES TAX RETURNS ROLLING HOME

Headquarters Staff Is Swamped by Merchants' First Payments

First returns under the new provincial sales tax are pouring into the tax headquarters in the Qu'Appelle building and are keeping a staff of six heavily engaged opening envelopes and filing returns.

Indications are that the estimated revenue under the tax will be exceeded.

The tax was brought into effect on May 1 and under the Act, the first returns were due not later than June 15 and on the 15th of each month for the previous month's business.

The volume of returns kept gradually increasing from June 1 to June 15, when the peak was reached and with the staff working far into the afternoon before the morning mail had been opened.

When the offices were visited on Wednesday the staff was hard at work with large piles of mail awaiting opening.

Einer M. Gunderson, acting superintendent of the sales tax branch, said that no estimate could yet be made of the amount brought in under the tax. The staff was too busy opening mail and filing documents to attend to totals.

Several merchants and department managers of large stores stated it was their opinion that the returns from the tax would exceed estimates in view of the fact that May business was decidedly above the corresponding month of the previous year.

Candidates To Speak Before Young Tories

An open meeting at which the candidates in the present by-election will speak is being held under the auspices of the Young Conservative association, Thursday night at 8.15 p.m., in the Conservative club rooms, Northern Investment building.

At a council meeting of the Young Conservatives recently A. Killips reported that more than 50 riders would be entered in the 100 mile bicycle race for the R. B. Bennett trophy.

The Young Tories Softball team will be entertained Wednesday, June 17, at 9 p.m., in the club rooms by the Young Conservatives.

Miss Marie Boileau, Alan Goldberg, T. Barford and Don Lomas spoke briefly at a meeting of the Conservative Speakers' club in the club rooms.

BIG COMPANIES FIGHTING SHY OF NEW SCRIP

Premier Says No Agreement—They Can Suit Themselves

Whether theatres, railway companies, express companies and professional men accept the prosperity certificates when they are circulated, is a matter for them to decide themselves, declared Premier William Aberhart on Wednesday. The government, he said, had made no arrangements with them to accept certificates and no special arrangement was necessary as the whole proposal was voluntary.

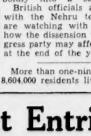

No special arrangements would be made in the case of professional men accepting certificates for professional services, having them redeemed. If the professional man took the certificates, they could keep them circulating by purchasing necessary goods and chattels and the certificates would find their way back to wholesalers, who in turn would redeem them every month.

The government would make arrangements with the wholesalers to redeem the certificates once a month, to meet payments outside the province. It would not be necessary to meet the total amount of payments to the wholesalers as they in turn would be able to use some for overhead and other expenses and operating costs.

If the retailer was unable to get his certificates to the wholesaler for payment of goods, they could work out some arrangement among themselves.

INDIA HAS NEW GANDHI RIVAL

CALCUTTA, India, June 17.—A young and vigorous Socialist raged like a lion today through the fields where the ascetic Mahatma Gandhi walked, as a lamb, threatening a split in the Indian National Congress.

Nehru

While Gandhi convinced he had been betrayed by his friends, sulks in retirement, the slim Pandit Jawar-Harlal Nehru, his successor as leader of the Indian National movement, forges boldly into a sea of dispute.

British officials are not pleased with the Nehru teachings. They are watching with interest to see how the dissension within the Congress party may affect the elections at the end of the year.

ALBERTA BOND INTEREST CUT HITS B.C. TOWN

Grand Forks Mayor Claims Hamlet Would be Tax-Free

"JASPER, Alta., June 17. — The town of Grand Forks would be tax-free except for school purpose if it did not have to raise money to help finance the provincial governments of Alberta and British Columbia, Mayor T. A. Love of that "obscure hamlet" in British Columbia asserted here Tuesday.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada, the former president of the British Columbia Union of Municipalities said Grand Forks' held $25,000 worth of Alberta bonds and the recent action of the Alberta government in cutting in half interest rates on its debentures would require his town to raise an additional mill on its tax levy annually to make up the deficiency.

"BIG STICK" METHODS

"Owing to inequitable financing by the provincial government to British Columbia," Mayor Love declared, "the British municipalities of British Columbia, Grand Forks has been helping to finance the provincial government to the tune of $1,500,000 annually.

"This was due to the failure of the government to allow the municipalities their recognized division or share of liquor and other taxes collected in the hotels or their unloading on the municipalities certain social charges that are admittedly the obligation of the government but which they are able to force on municipalities simply by 'big stick' methods.

Mayor Love said that some time ago Glenside, which is a suburb of Grand Forks to sell its Manitoba and Saskatchewan bonds and with the money buy Grand Forks bonds. The town bought $25,000 worth of them in the hope they would "produce a certain interest" in order to pay 'way off some of our 8½ per cent bonds," he added.

AGREEMENT DISHONORED

"Now what are we told?" he continued. "That the agreement inscribed on our province of Alberta bonds is dishonored although we had bought and paid for these bonds because of certain undertakings on behalf of the people of Alberta insist on quashing that agreement without even consulting us, and will not pay a part of what that agreement calls for.

"One dislikes to classify the degree of honesty of transactions that seems to be involved in this sort of proceeding. What are we coming to when governments lead the way in dishonoring obligations?

GRAND LARCENY

"Is the attorney-general of Alberta going to approve the sending of some poor devil to jail for some nominal theft and then condone this nation-wide—what would you call it?—pilferage or grand larceny from bondholders?

Experience of Grand Forks with bond dealers, Mr. Love said, "has rather soured us away from bond dealers." He charged the town had failed to obtain "any constructive suggestions" from dealers, and "we were disappointed with the attitude of the bond dealers." Since 1919, the town had handled its own bonds, "in our own way," the mayor stated, adding he thought "we have made a success of it."

DEALERS' DUTY

He asked delegates if their responsibility as dealers was ended when they had taken money from the investor and handed it to the municipality adding he felt it was the dealers' duty to both municipality and investor to see that the money is adequately safe-guarded.

Mayor Love suggested that the association form a bureau "that would digest available data and be in a position to make constructive recommendations to municipalities, not only in the interest of the municipalities but in the interests of those to whom they sell bonds."

CAMERON BAY ICE BLASTED

Open water is being cleared for airplane landings by blasting the ice at Cameron Bay, Great Bear lake, it was learned today. Companies expect to land in the bay in about three days.

Canadian Airways received a message saying that 1,200 feet of open water had been cleared from Reid's to the Hudson's Bay properties. There is also a 30-foot channel on the east shore at the north end of the bay, extending back about another 50 yards.

Although there is a small amount of pan ice floating in the channel, it can be cleared today. Supt. W. R. May sent a message asking that a large stretch be opened which, with clearing of pan ice, will take about three days.

Day Of Moses Seen In Premier's Prosperity Bonds

OTTAWA, June 18.—Bernard O Schonegevel, chairman of the executive council of the Empire Mutual Settlement Group of London, England, said here that Premier Aberhart of Alberta with his prosperity bonds was going back to the days of Moses, "and if he can succeed in bringing his people back to the Mosaic age, he may succeed.

"In other words," said Mr. Schonegevel, "if he can induce the people to spend upon his prosperity bonds in the same way as they do upon dollar bills issued by the Bank of Canada, then he will succeed."

The Alberta premier was strongly in favor of British settlers in Alberta, said Mr. Schonegevel who is here to confer with dominion government officials regarding immigration. He will go to Montreal tomorrow to speak to the Canadian Club. No scheme of empire settlement could be successful unless it was approved first and welcomed by the individual dominions, he said.

Mrs. Dionne Believes God Will Take Care Of Her When Baby Arrives

CALLANDER, Ont., June 17— All five brothers and sisters of the Dionne quintuplets have measles, it was reported last night. Their mother, Mrs. Oliva Dionne, awaits the birth of another child.

Dr. A. E. Ranney, of North Bay, visited the Dionne farm home, just across the road from the Defoe nursery, where the quints live, but last night's call was to see the young measles sufferers. Two children caught a mild form of the disease several days ago. The other three children have now developed it.

Awaiting the birth of her 11th child in less than 11 years of married life, Elzire Dionne believes "God will take care of us" when the quintuplets' little brother or sister arrives.

Friends of the family said Tuesday no physician has attended the 27-year-old mother of the quints. Whether one will be called to the actual confinement is not known. Mrs. Dionne bore six children, one of whom died, before the quints and at three of the confinements neighborhood midwives attended her.

TIME NOT CERTAIN

When the baby will be born not even Elzire or her husband Oliva knows. "It is not certain," their friends say. "It may be in one month, perhaps two. No one knows."

Mrs. Dionne's attitude that Providence will take care of her is typical of the deeply religious French-Canadian mother. Shortly after the Quints arrived she gave all credit for their birth, their survival and her own recovery to "Le Bon Dieu."

The Dionnes, their relatives and their friends are amused at the thought of another multiple birth. One batch of quintuplets is quite enough for any family, they said.

HEIST STORIES BACKED UP BY THE BULLETIN

Carmangay was entered April 21; the safe trucked to a point five miles away and blown. The same night a garage, and C.P.R. toolhouse at Barons was robbed and police found the railway tools by the blasted safe.

The Becker Lumber Company at Picture Butte was victimized the night of April 27. Safe-blowers on that job got their tools from a section shed at Kipp and rode into Picture Butte on a stolen railway speeder.

POLICE WISE

At that time police were aware that they were up against a band of well organized criminals for orders went out from headquarters to "watch the movement of suspects with a view to associating them with offences which have occured in the past and will no doubt occur in the future until these men are apprehended."

The Atlas Lumber Company of Strome came next when the gang soaped and "souped" the safe on the night of May 18.

The next raid followed May 29 when the safe in the McMahon Machine Co. at Lethbridge was looted.

A general store at Patricia followed, the safe being blown the night of June 1.

SPECIAL ORDERS

Here headquarters issued special instructions to all police departments, naming suspects, giving license numbers of cars used by the crackmen and their women and underworld "fence" and "job-locator" associates described.

Instructions to law enforcers were to keep a sharp lookout for all suspects named. Information released from headquarters at this time was to the effect that the gang borrowed cars from some member of the underworld or from "fences" so that in the event of a capture, the owners would report the autos as stolen.

June 11 brought a safe cracking in a garage at Herschel and again orders bummed from headquarters.

NO EVIDENCE

One suspect gang was picked up and released because "no evidence of any nature could be found on them."

At this time police learned that the gang was trying to contact an underworld character who located "jobs." The locator's name was known, his car's license and his associates noted.

June 13 brought the safe blowing at Arial which was followed June 14 by the gang striking at a Delbourne butcher shop.

Again telephone and telegraph wires out of headquarters crackled and police throughout the central and southern section of the province learned further details, more minute descriptions as the suspects which they have been able to pick up at any time, but never to hold in evidence that would warrant arrests.

Photographs, finger prints and criminal records of the crackmen were distributed to departments throughout the province.

While trying to cope with this wave of crime, police are worried by burglaries and break-ins which broke out in a rash at more than a dozen towns between Edmonton and Calgary.

MUNICIPAL AID OTTAWA ONUS BANKER SAYS

W. E. Cochran Submits Plan to Investment Bankers' Meeting

JASPER, June 17.—Establishment of recognized government agencies to deal with municipalities in financial difficulties was suggested by W. E. Cochran, of Toronto, today in a report submitted to the annual convention of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada.

Wider control over municipalities through the Ontario department of municipal affairs brought a greater measure of protection to public credit in the eastern province, the chairman of the central district stated. The development had been gradual and over a period of years.

Appreciation of problems facing the federal government resulted from conferences at Ottawa between a committee of the association, members of the government and officials of the Bank of Canada. It was hoped something tangible in the way of results from the discussions would be forthcoming in the near future.

Membership in the central division, which included every company in Ontario actively engaged in bond selection, increased 60 to 65 in the current year. It was hoped a move would be made to enlist the co-operation of all associations interested in the maintenance of public credit.

Public speakers, known, his car's license and his associates noted.

TEACHERS TO QUALIFY FOR NEW COURSES

Public School Board Submits Recommendations To Alliances

New qualifications for teachers of the grade nine options in intermediate schools, under the new curriculum, have been set out by the department of education and were presented in a report to the Edmonton Public School Board by Supt. G. A. McKee, Tuesday night.

The board discussed allocation of teachers under the new organization and adjourned in order that the proposals might be submitted to the teachers' alliances for their consideration and that trustees might have further time to study Supt. McKee's reports. The question will come up next Tuesday.

COURSES GIVEN

Special qualifications are required for teachers in the new music, dramatics, junior business, typewriting and oral French, all of which come on the new grade nine course. Manual training and household economics require special instructors. For all these subjects, as well as other regular classes, courses are provided at summer school here this year.

In changing teachers from their present positions, Mr. McKee suggested that the maturest teachers on the high school staff be kept with the senior pupils in the senior high school area and that the younger teachers be used in the intermediate section.

NO LOBBYING

Readjustment of the salary scale will be discussed after allocations are made.

At the conclusion of his report, which he said was not a final adjustment, Mr. McKee said, "I appreciate very much the attitude which the teachers have assumed in this matter. No lobbying, whatever, has been done and no pressure has been exerted in anyone's behalf."

A letter was received from the department of education commending the Edmonton board's set-up at King Edward, Oliver and McCauley schools and recommending certain principles in organizing under the new course.

WHY NOT SWAP?

The city commissioners are to interview the Provincial Government, to find out whether the interest-reducing rule will work both ways. The city stands to lose $32,000 a year interest on provincial bonds in its possession, and would like the province to balance the account by accepting that much less on the city bonds it is holding.

From previous statements by the Premier it does not seem very likely the Government will agree. Mr. Aberhart has stated on more than one occasion that debtors of the province are not to be forgiven, and that all must be treated alike. A compensating reduction in the interest on city bonds held by the Government might create an awkward situation in that respect.

But why not the city and the province swap bonds in equivalent amounts, and cut out the silly performance of sending interest cheques to each other? That would equalize matters without compromising the Government with its other debtors.

SANCTIONS?

The Council of the League of Nations meets tomorrow, to decide what should be done about sanctions against Italy. To continue or not to continue them—that is the question. The answer to which is likely to be found in pondering another question: What would be gained by continuing them?

Sanctions failed absolutely to avert Italy's war of conquest or to save Abyssinia. The war is now over. Abyssinia has ceased to be a sovereign state. Its territory is part of the Italian colonial empire. There is no prospect that Italy will voluntarily relax her grip on it. It has annexed it and intends to make the terms of settlement it imposed. And no prospect that any country or combination of countries will fight Italy to re-seat Haile Selassie on his throne.

Sanctions can now be nothing more than a punishment imposed upon Italy for violation of its League obligations. This punishment may be deserved. But are the sanctionist countries prepared to inflict the punishment, knowing that while Italy is outlawed Europe must live under the shadow of another general war?

On the other hand, are they to endorse the proposition that a strong nation may strike down a weaker one and then square itself by defying the League to do anything about it? The choice is between two evils, both dangerous, and neither much less dangerous than the other.

A PERMANENT PROBLEM

During April 1,357,704 persons in Canada were on relief—against 1,432,517 in April of last year; a decrease of something less than 100,000. The figures are official, given out in the House of Commons by the Minister of Labor.

It does not follow that ten years would have to elapse, at the present rate of going, before the unemployed would all be back at work. Employment is cumulative, like unemployment as it spreads, the pace quickens. But, making allowance for that, it would take three years at least at the present rate of gain to reduce the figures to normal proportions.

But the prophets of what-must-come are telling us another depression will be due in about four years. Which means—unless the process is speeded up—that the last of the unemployed will get jobs about the time another slump occurs and starts to throw men out of work again.

There is something for members of parliament to think about during the recess. Depressions used to come along like street cars—every once in a while. Hereafter, it appears, they are to come like freight cars—one hitched onto the other.

The machine, in other words, has displaced a pretty large per centage of human labor—permanently. It will not be needed, and cannot be used continuously in the industry of the future. What does parliament propose to do about that?

BOND INTEREST NEXT

Every little bit helps. Reduction from 4½ to 4 per cent in the rate of interest charged by the bank on temporary loans to the city will be important according to the amount the city has to borrow, or is able to borrow.

A low rate does not mean necessarily that money can be got in large amounts. The commissioners learned that the other day, when the bank refused to lend them a half-million to buy new machinery for the power plant. The prospective saving for the balance of the year is estimated at from $10,000 to $12,000, a worth while sum, and for this due recognition should be given the bank.

The concession is not to Edmonton only, a corresponding reduction in rates to other cities being reported. This follows logically on the recent reduction from 2 per cent to 1½ per cent in the interest now paid by the banks to depositors.

The two together indicate that the downward trend of interest rates is continuing—in keeping with the cheap money policy of the present Dominion Government. Attempts of certain presumed authorities a month or so ago to "put over" the idea that money had touched bottom and would become dearer failed, and the wishful propaganda has petered out.

This reduction widens by another half per cent the spread between bank rates on current municipal loans and fixed rates on municipal bonds. It accordingly justifies, and will strengthen, the demand for a refunding of these bond rates—the more so that the era of cheap money has come to stay. As the Dominion is now content with 3 per cent on existing municipal loans, the bond-holder cannot in reason expect to go on collecting up to double that rate.

One of the principal reasons for the recession in the Index of General Industrial Employment—it declined from 98.3 in March to 97.3 in April—was the failure of the working force in construction to expand by the normal seasonal proportions. In addition, employment in retail and wholesale trade did not experience the usual increase from March to April. Fortunately, conditions of employment in the manufacturing industries and service trades were fairly well maintained and some improvement occurred in the mining and transport fields.—The Bank of Nova Scotia.

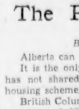

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Alberta can claim a new record.

It is the only western province that, as yet, has not shared in the Dominion government housing scheme, though none needs it more.

British Columbia runs it a close second, with one loan of $2,700, but the total loans made in Alberta thus far number 0, with value $0.00. Alberta has but a short building season. There are at least 100 contracts for new homes awaiting loans under the Dominion Housing Act in the city of Edmonton. It seems the height of folly that people should be deprived of homes, and men in the building trades be deprived of work, for lack of reasonable and well-secured loans.

Up till May 31 Ontario has received loans totalling $691,630. Quebec has received $788,726. Nova Scotia, regarded as a good place to come from, had received $26,880. Even little old Prince Edward Island had got loans. Alberta, with all its needs, had received none.

o o o

The Minister of Finance says it is up to the loan companies to initiate action. I have letters from loan companies who say they cannot handle this business in Alberta. Most of them say that arrangements have not been made at head office to include Alberta in their operations "in view of the uncertainty surrounding the mortgage outlook in Alberta," as one large insurance company puts it.

The Calgary management frankly says:

"We are not making any loans in Alberta under this scheme. Probably you are aware that adverse legislation and statements from a number of our public men during the past several years and at the present, have had a bad effect upon the attitude of large numbers of our people in regard to their obligations. This attitude, in addition to objectionable legislation, destroys the confidence of the investor. People are not going to entrust their savings to investment in Alberta until there is a complete change of thought."

That was logical enough, and understandable enough before the Dominion Housing Act came into effect. One of the objects of making the Crown a party to the mortgage was a form of insurance company as joint mortgagee with the Crown, from interference by the provincial Legislature. The fear expressed is illusory. For the companies to refuse to transact business under the Dominion Housing Act is a form of cutting off one's nose to spite one's face.

o o o

Now the tumult and the shouting has died at Cleveland, Governor Alf. M. Landon of Kansas emerges as Republican candidate for the Presidency. It will be Landon versus Roosevelt in November. Who will be the victor requires a better prophet than myself to say. Short of combatting the money power, Roosevelt seems to have done about everything a president could do to relieve unemployment and raise the social level during the difficult years of his administration. In so doing he has incurred the fierce enmity of all those who own possessions and have large incomes, while those for whom he has toiled hold divided and uncertain allegiances. His is the difficult lot of the Liberal.

Straw votes that have shown accuracy in previous forecasts, indicate that Roosevelt will fail to get a majority. In the actual campaign, however, he will have the advantage of opposing a candidate who is the standard-bearer of the wealthy and privileged, in addition to his own marked abilities as a campaigner.

Governor Landon's "ladies' drum and bugle corps" dressed in uniforms of blue, gray and white satin, leading a band of fifty Uncle Sams from Kansas, wearing red and white striped pants, long blue tailed coats, high silk hats, and carrying swagger canes, may have affected the Cleveland convention—for such is the power of mass emotion—but the pretty ladies won't make votes outside the convention hall. Landon may yet pray to be freed from the aid of his friends and supporters.

o o o

One of the helps that may hinder is the fervid help that the Hearst press, on orders of its owner, has given Landon. It sees in him a Daniel who will deliver the rich men of United States from the lions of high income taxation for social purposes.

Mr. Hearst, despite his multi-millions from the Homestake Mine and from his chain of popular newspapers and magazines, no more loves parting with income tax than an Alberta mother enjoys paying sales tax to the provincial government when she buys feeding bottles or soothing syrup for the baby. Hearst announced some time ago that high taxation would compel him to give up his palatial San Simeon estate in California, with its zoological garden, stables, boats, theatre and all day restaurant for his guests. It was only an empty gesture to dramatize his sorrows at parting with his money for social purposes. He still occupies San Simeon.

If you want a composite picture of this strange septuagenarian, Hearst, read four recent and vastly different biographies: "W. R. Hearst, An American Phenomenon," by John K. Winkler; "Portrait Hearst, a Social Biography," by Ferdinand Lundberg; "William Randolph Hearst, American," by Mrs. Fremont Older, and "Hearst: Lord of San Simeon," by Oliver Carlson and Ernest Sutherland Bates. They'll give you bewildered until you can harmonize them all into a composite character —the generous friend and gentlemanly patriot whom Mrs. Fremont Older sees in the person of her late husband's old boss, and the gilded youth of Carlson and Bates' biographers, expelled from Harvard for sending Christmas gifts of chamber pots with the recipient's name in gilded letters, to the professoriate, pursuring his lordly way through a life devoted to selfishness and pleasure.

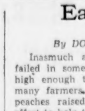

Says Mrs. Older: "He still sees through the eyes of youth. Time has not dulled his sense of news. He wants to make people laugh, cry, to stir them with his own eagerness for news and his passion for the greatness of America."

Say Carlson and Bates: "All his life he has worked on behalf of death—the death of personal integrity, the death of decent journalism, the death of honest patriotism—and now ultimately death will take its own."

Eat Peaches

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

Inasmuch as last year's crop of peaches failed in some localities to command a price high enough to pay for gathering the fruit, many farmers were unable to dispose of the peaches raised. Therefore, this year, in an effort to help the farmer sell his peaches, some of the large grocery stores are advertising the value of the canned peach. The purpose of this campaign is to provide the farmer with an outlet for the peach crop by allowing the surplus peaches to be put into cans.

Any method of distribution which encourages the sending of peaches from the localities where they are plentiful to the people who would be glad to get them is worthy of the highest praise. Certainly the thoroughly ripened peach is one of the most wholesome of all fruits, and peaches used for canning purposes are allowed to come to the moment of perfect ripeness before being put promptly into the containers.

As the peach does not keep well, it has always been a problem to get the surplus peaches to the consumer within a short time. By the use of refrigerator cars this difficulty has been partly overcome, as it then becomes possible to ship the peaches long distances. Also some of the surplus has been preserved by canning and has been dried and these canned and dried peaches have then been sent to those who were unable to obtain the fresh fruit.

There has been a great deal of discussion as to whether the peach came originally from China or from Persia, but regardless of its origin it is now one of our familiar fruits and, as it has a delicious flavor, it is a great favorite. The peach ripened on the tree has a sweet, peachy flavor which causes it to be greatly prized.

The ripe peach is of an enticing color, verging from a rich yellow to a rosy blush; however, I notice that the early peaches being sold in California this year are made to appear even more attractive in color than ever by being covered with yellow cellophane.

Peaches are classed into two divisions: the freestone and the clings. In the first, the flesh easily falls away from the stone, and in the second the tender flesh clings to the stone. The outside of the peach is covered with a fine down or fuzz, and the chief difference between the peach and the nectarine, which closely resembles it, is that the downy covering is lacking in the nectarine.

Peaches contain natural fruit sugar in considerable amounts and also provide vitamins A, B and C. They are alkaline forming and the dried peach is an excellent source of food iron, supplying the iron needed to build healthy red blood cells. Due to the large water content, the peach is a cooling food and for this reason is especially palatable in summer.

Any fruit as deliciously flavored and as healthful as the peach deserves a good market. Let's eat peaches and help the farmer, and help health at the same time.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mr. Herman C. writes: "About seven months ago my right heel began to pain when walking, and the diagnosis given, after recent X-ray pictures, was of exostosis. The growth is about one-half inch or longer. Can this be removed without the use of the knife?"

ANSWER: Spurs or exostoses on the heel are usually produced by the irritation of rheumatic toxins and somewhat resemble the type of bone deposits found in arthritis. In some cases it is possible to cause an absorption of the bone by dieting and in other cases surgery is advisable. In any case, dieting should be used to cleanse the system of the rheumatic toxins so that no more of the spurs form.

Poems That Live

"HE'D NOTHING BUT HIS VIOLIN"

He'd nothing but his violin,
I'd nothing but my song.
But we were wed when skies were blue
And summer days were long;
And when we built our hedge.
The robins came and told
How they had dared to woo and win,
When early Spring was cold.

We sometimes supped on dewberries,
Or slept among the hay,
But oft the farmers' wives at eve
Came out to hear us play;
The rare old songs, the dear old tunes—
We could not count the cost
While my man hath his violin,
And I my sweet love-song.

The world has aye gone well with us
Old men since we were one—
Our homeless wandering down the lanes
It long ago was done.
But those who wait for gold or gear,
For houses or for kine,
Till youth's sweet spring grows brown and sere,
And love and beauty fine,
Will never know the joy of hearts
That met without a fear,
When you had but your violin
And I a song, my dear.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

"Oh, I've knitted the baby cap and a pair of bootees just while waiting for red lights to change."

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1793 the House of Assembly of Upper Canada was very jealous of its privileges. Simcoe had made the first legislature of Upper Canada as much a copy of the British Parliament as possible in a new province, which, of course, meant that the new legislature assumed the doctrines of the privileges of parliament as laid down by the mother at Westminster. It is recorded that sheriff Sheehan of Niagara had had the temerity to serve a writ of capias upon a member of the assembly while that august body was in session.

The new legislators passed a resolution demanding that the sheriff "do appear at the bar of this honorable house to answer for his contempt of its privileges"; but when legal advice was taken the motion was amended to become a mere censure upon the sheriff. It is being accepted, after consideration, that he had acted from "want of reflection and not contempt."

Inasmuch as ever since there has been a preponderance of lawyers in most of our legislatures (though there is a tendency the other way nowadays) it may be worth stating that in the first assembly of Upper Canada there was only one lawyer member, John White, the attorney general, who was afterwards killed in a duel at Toronto by John Small. Indeed there were only four lawyers then in the whole province: Chief Justice William Osgoode, who was also president of the legislative council, Hon. W. D. Powell, then judge at Detroit, Mr. White and Walter Roe, also of Detroit, the first barrister. Even Lower Canada to prettise in the "upper country."

While Sheriff Sheehan was not punished by the assembly, he had ill-luck, for in 1794 the office was vacant, but there is no record of what became of Sheehan, who had had a varied career as soldier, Indian agent and storekeeper as well as sheriff.

Current Comment

A LIABILITY

It is no more than the truth to say that for many years Premier Thacherous has been a liability to Liberalism in Canada. And his generally reactionary attitude has often prevented co-operation with the Dominion in policies for the advancement of the national welfare.—Winnipeg Free Press.

THE NORTHERN PARKS

While it is satisfactory to learn that $600,000 will be spent in improving the Saskatchewan section of the trans-Prairie speedway which will carry tourists from Winnipeg to Banff in the shortest possible time, it is regretable that a decision has not been made as to work to be done on the highways which traverse the park lands of the north in which tourists are tempted to linger by the scenic beauties of the countryside and the proximity of a series of national parks.

That $600,000 will supply further sections of hard surfaced road and a longer stretch of gravel and will provide very considerable work. On both counts it is welcome.

A similar amount spent on the northern roads would do precisely the same and would, in addition, increase the business for the whole of Western Canada. That is to say, while the badly needed prairie through which the Prairie section of the trans-Canada highway runs is a section of country through which tourists seek to pass at the greatest possible speed, the northern parks with their beautiful parks and resorts are an attraction in themselves.—Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

The Mail Bag

TO THE LADIES

Editor, Bulletin: Most ladies pride themselves on having a modern kitchen. Perhaps they have, but they are still cooking in the same manner that their cave-women ancestors did, that is, everything is cooked from the outside, by means of heat from a fire or other heating apparatus. Today, the first recorded change in cooking methods has arrived. You can cook or bake the article from the inside. High frequency ultra-short wave radiations pass through the article, and proof it is done evenly all over, and you don't need water to boil an egg. If waves of 3 to 15 metres range through a circuit containing a condenser of appreciable capacity, and with a considerable distance between the plates a variety of remarkable phenomena occur with regard to objects placed between the plates. Thus it is possible to bake, cook and boil.

The advantage of this new method is that an even and penetrating heat is applied; that the article cooked has no crust as it is cooked from the inside evenly, thus doing away with the chemical inequality between the crust and the interior of our foods today. Another advantage is the speed and efficiency with which large quantities of food can be prepared. Thus doing away with a great deal of unnecessary and unpleasant labor.

This method is also used in treatment of pathological cases, as in the case of "fever machines" in which the blood is treated and rid of certain pathogenic elements. Also by exposing food to the correct type of short wave radiation an almost indefinite preservation of foods, without eliminating their vitamin content can be obtained. A scientist in Holland has a number of fresh vegetables such as cauliflower, tomatoes, and lettuce in a case in the open air which have been there for five years and are still perfectly fresh. They are constantly exposed to short wave radiation. It is seen from this that huge warehouses could be built with the opposite walls constructed as condensor plates, in which great quantities of fresh food could be stored and kept fresh. Technology is taking a real "smack" at the kitchens of the world.

But now comes the "Joker." You say "I thought there was a catch in it somewhere." Well the catch is this, that under the present Price System the cost of installing and delivering this high frequency current would be prohibitive. Further, just as long as our Financiers, "captains of industry" and the "politicians of the states" of North America continue to maintain profits by creating an artificial scarcity through the destruction of commodities and their interference control over production and distribution, this will remain the dream it appears to be. If, however, the scientist and technician are allowed a free hand in the production and distribution of goods and services what a utopia this Continent would be.

Sunshine Shafts

Woman—No, I tell you I object to giving money at the door!

Tramp—Well, ma'am, perhaps you'll fund it out the window. I'm not particular.

The bricklayers had just started on the foundations of a new housing estate, and a workman with a ladder on his shoulder, who happened to be passing, stopped to watch. One of the bricklayers looked up and noticed him. "Hurry up, lads!" he called out to his mates; "he's waiting to clean the windows."

"You looked absent-minded when I spoke to you this morning."

"I was probably wrapped up in thought."

"It's a wonder you didn't take cold."

SENATE MOVES ALONG UNDER FULL STEAM

13 Government Measures and One Private Bill Advanced

OTTAWA, June 17.—The Senate Tuesday travelled full steam ahead, advanced 13 government measures, one private bill and concurred in amendments of a non-contentious nature by the Commons to the Customs Tariff and Special War Revenue Act bills based on the budget.

It heard on a private member's enquiry a protest by Senator C. P. Beaubien (Cons., Montreal) against any suggestion Canada should be given the right to amend its own constitution. Senators then transferred their activities into the Banking and Commerce committee to consider other government legislation.

The National Harbor Board measure was put through final reading as amended by the Senate's railway committee. The bill was immediately sen. back to the House for concurrence in amendments defining specifically the duties of port managers, placing harbor board staff under the Civil Service Commission and providing for opening of tenders at Ottawa in public.

Amending legislation to the Excise Act covering budget changes went through second reading and committee stage with a few clarifying changes. It will come up today for third reading.

The measure to provide for Dominion by-elections was accorded second reading and in committee, minor amendments were made including a change in the title. It is ready for final reading today.

SALMON PACT RATIFIED BY U.S. SENATE

Ratification by Canada is Needed to Make Treaty Binding

WASHINGTON, June 17—The United States senate Tuesday ratified a convention "For the protection, preservation and extension" of the sockeye salmon fisheries of the Fraser river system in the northwest.

Ratification by the Canadian parliament is needed to make the pact binding.

SET UP COMMISSION

Under the agreement an International Pacific Salmon Fisheries commission, consisting of three Canadians and three Americans would be set up to study the sockeye salmon situation in the area affected and subsequently to make needed regulations.

VANCOUVER, June 17—The treaty negotiated by Canada and the United States for the protection of sockeye salmon fisheries of the Fraser river system, ratified by the senate in Washington yesterday, guarantees 50 per cent. of the catch for Canadian fisheries.

That will be one of the first effects of the agreement which follows negotiations started close to 30 years ago.

OF FRASER ORIGIN

All fish that come through the Straits of Juan de Fuca, separating Vancouver Island from the mainland, are of Fraser river origin and return to the river to spawn. Hitherto United States fisheries were said to be getting more than 75 per cent. of the fish, but under the agreement the Canadian fisheries are guaranteed 50 per cent.

The waters controlled by the treaty include the Straits of Juan de Fuca and certain ports of Puget Sound and the Gulf of Georgia.

Ontario Church Fires Unrelated Attorney States

TORONTO, June 17.—Investigation of recent fires and acts of vandals in Roman Catholic churches in Ontario has led authorities to conclude the acts were unrelated, Attorney-General Roebuck announced Tuesday.

Officials of the fire marshal's department, Toronto city police and provincial officers conducted the investigations.

"I feel we are in a position to say there is absolutely no evidence of any organized attack upon Roman Catholic churches," the attorney-general said. "These instances were separated by time and distance and there are few points of similarity."

Three fires broke out Monday in the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows in Toronto. The first two, in the basement, were quickly extinguished by the caretaker.

Request Probe Of Packing Industry

OTTAWA, June 17—Requests have come to the government from livestock raisers to appoint a royal commission to investigate the packing industry. While Hon. W. D. Euler, trade minister, was not in the city today, it is understood he is giving consideration to the requests.

Liberal members from the prairies where the requests originated, did not think, when interviewed last night, the government would refer to any more royal commissions this year. Departmental officers, however, might continue the investigation carried on to a considerable extent last year by the price spreads commission.

Complaints have been made that the packers were not paying prices for cattle and hogs as high as the domestic prices for meats would warrant. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction leader, recently urged this view in a speech in the commons.

Three-On-One

Here's three members of the same family, whose birthday occurs on the same day, although their ages are widely different. Mrs. Forsyth, 51, and Mrs. Henry Liebing, 61, both of Rosalind, celebrated their birthdays on May 31, and they met at the birthday party of one-year-old Joyce Liebing, who is granddaughter to both of them, which makes it kind of lucky for Joyce, as she gets in on a triple birthday celebration and gets most of the presents her "grannies" get as well as her own.

Throwing Away Public Confidence

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

Political parties in Canada stem absolutely determined to commit political suicide.

The continued operation of a money famine, coupled with continuous increase in taxation will certainly bring about a political revolution in any country.

In order to retain public confidence, the Government of Canada must provide its people with substantially the same financial facilities as are maintained in other English-speaking countries.

In Great Britain any individual having an interest in land can get money to keep up and repair and improve his property; and has the right to repay by instalments over a term of years. This right to obtain this use of money is provided by two principal laws passed in 1846 and 1864; and by a series of subsidiary laws. The terms and procedure will be found in Halsbury's Laws of England under the title Land Improvements. So far as landowners are concerned there cannot be any money famine in Great Britain.

In the United States any individual desiring to improve his home or property can, and by law must be given, the use of money, repayable by instalments over a term of years.

In Canada any individual desiring to improve his home or property will soon find out that he can get the use of money to buy an automobile, or a radio, or a truck or tractor on terms permitting repayment in instalments over a term of years; but that no provision is made for the use of money for home and land improvement; the landowner is a financial castaway.

Proceedings in Parliament have shown that this Canadian policy is absolutely unnecessary. It was stated on the floor of Parliament, and not denied, that the Central Bank of Canada, out of assets and reserves justifying seven hundred million dollars of currency, has issued less than one hundred million dollars.

There is no danger of loss in issuing currency to be used for land improvement—payable in instalments over a term of years. British experience of ninety years proves absolute safety.

Ever since 1930 the public has been promised restoration; and instead of restoration has been held captive in the python coils of a money famine.

The public will wipe out any political party which holds to a "Sound Money" policy. The public mind associates privation and distress with bad government.

WOMAN FACES MURDER COUNT

CHICAGO, June 17—The estranged wife of Joseph Bolton, Jr., 44, slain insurance broker, was charged formally with murdering him in a true bill reported voted by a grand jury Tuesday a few minutes after her police guards quoted her as telling them:

"Betty Martin got away with it, why shouldn't I?"

The reference was to Mrs. Martin, acquitted recently by a jury as temporarily insane when she fatally shot her spouse, Andrew.

A gun was still smoking in Mildred Bolton's hands Monday when clerks carried the wounded Bolton from his 10th floor office. He had been target for three bullets.

A friend of Bolton, Arthur L. Ladd, testified at an inquest that Mrs. Bolton stabbed her husband so seriously two years ago he spent 10 days in hospital. A week ago Ladd asserted, she had tried to attack him with a knife in his office.

Peasant Aspired To Become Another Mussolini, Hitler

BUDAPEST, June 17. — Zoltan Szekes, leader of the Fascist "Cross and Scythe" party, aspired to become a Hungarian Mussolini or Hitler, four of his lieutenants testified last night.

The men are among 113 peasants on trial at Szekes on charges of having plotted a "march on Budapest".

Pension Cheques For Blind Likely

TORONTO, June 17.—Within the next year or two unemployable blind persons will likely benefit by receipt of pension cheques of sufficient value to take care of their material needs, it was predicted Tuesday by Capt. A. E. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, as that organization held its 18th annual meeting. Attending the annual meeting were the division superintendent, M. C. Robson, Vancouver, and Major E. Fleaman, Winnipeg.

1,244,951 ON RELIEF LISTS IN DOMINION

OTTAWA, June 17.—Relief recipients in Canada in May this year totalled 1,244,951 compared with 1,277,464 in May, 1935. Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, told the House of Commons last night. These were the latest figures available.

Total cost of relief to the Dominion, provincial and municipal government together was also lower this year. Latest cost figures were for April and in that month this year the total was $7,771,271 compared with $7,490,801 in April, 1935.

Mr. Rogers made his statement when an amendment to the 1936 relief act received second reading was considered in committee.

C.C.F. TO RUN IN MANITOBA

WINNIPEG, June 17.—S. J. Farmer, Winnipeg M.L.A. and secretary of the provincial council of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, announced last night the C.C.F. will be definitely in the Manitoba elections July 27.

A council meeting was attended by representatives of the Independent Labor party and the Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement. Arrangements were started for nominations in Winnipeg and other constituencies but there was no indication of the number of candidates to be placed in the field.

Eric J. Poole, 26-year-old Social Credit member of parliament for Red Deer, Alta., told 400 persons at a public meeting last night the Social Credit group would be guided by the people as to whether they would place candidates in the election.

"We will be guided by the people," he said. "We will not thrust candidates upon them. We want people to vote Social Credit because they understand it, not because their fathers were Social Credit-ers."

ROCKY ROAD TO PEACE IN CHINA CRISIS

Negotiators Seek to Heal Serious Split in Domestic Affairs

SHANGHAI, June 17—Negotiators in China's civil crisis found a rocky road to peace today.

The conferees, meeting at Hengyang in southern Hunan province, were seeking to heal the most serious split in China's domestic affairs in the past decade. They were trying to smooth the difficulties resulting from southern China's military and verbal demands for national resistance to Japanese penetration in China.

DIFFICULT TASK

While maintaining progress was being made authorities of both the Nanking (Central) and Canton (Southern) governments disclosed the negotiators were finding a difficult task in surmounting obstacles that have carried China to the brink of civil war.

The Nanking spokesmen contended the Cantonese had presented "unreasonable demands with which it is impossible for Nanking to comply."

NANKING NOT WILLING

Canton leaders, on the other hand, said Nanking was not willing to grant South China the measure of political independence the Cantonese considered vital if they were to join Nanking councils, as Nanking desires.

SECRETARY OF WAR ASSAILED BY LABOR PEER

Lord Ponsonby Thinks Cooper Should be Confined as Scaremonger

LONDON, June 17.—Lord Ponsonby, former Labor leader in the House of Lords, suggested Tuesday that the secretary for war, Alfred Duff Cooper, should be confined as "a deliberate dangerous and disgraceful scaremonger."

The Labor peer used sharp language to assail Duff Cooper's statement of Monday, "It is the duty of those in authority to frighten the people of this country out of their wits."

Lord Ponsonby, addressing a peace meeting, said he had always considered Duff Cooper intelligent, adding: "But he has shown himself to be a half-wit. Broadmoors (an institution for the insane) is the only place for him."

QUIT BEING BOGEY MAN

In the House of Commons, Emanuel Shinwell, Labor member, who defeated Ramsay MacDonald in the last general election, asked that the war minister quit "being a bogey man."

Duff Cooper replied acidly, "It might be just as well for Labor to decide whether it intends to support or retard army recruitment."

The war minister has been experiencing difficulties in recruiting for the army and the territorials.

LIVELY EXCHANGE

Early in April he engaged in a lively exchange in the columns of the Times with David Lloyd George. The value or danger of the general staff talks between Britain, France and Belgium. Then he publicly rebuked authorities of Liverpool cathedral who omitted the customary prayer for the ministers of state as a protest against the government's policy at the time of the Locarno meetings in London.

INCREASE IN INCOME TAXES

OTTAWA, June 17.—An increase of nearly $9,000,000 was shown in May income tax collections compared with May, 1935, according to a statement issued by the department of national revenue.

Total collections amounted to $35,687,726 against $50,804,860 in May last year.

Toronto district led with income collections of $20,483,646, an increase of $4,788,027, and Montreal was second with $16,860,636 compared with $15,623,841 last year.

Collections in other districts with last year's figures in brackets follow: Peterboro, $143,440 ($122,493); Saskatoon $79,151 ($72,081); Calgary $730,127 ($633,281); Edmonton $251,393 ($212,889); Vancouver $3,604,446 ($2,763,531); Yukon $13,720 ($11,722).

Heimwehr To Join Patriotic Militia

VIENNA, June 17.—The Heimwehr was reported to have decided last night to join the Patriotic Front militia.

The decision ended speculation regarding the Heimwehr's future course of action under its leader, Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, who ousted from the vice-chancellorship by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

Some quarters had predicted the Heimwehr would bitterly oppose Schuschnigg's plan to incorporate within the Patriotic Front, Austria's last of the country's semi-military organizations.

Bill To Set Up Free Ports Read

OTTAWA, June 17—The senate Tuesday read a second time a bill, measure for establishment of free ports or free foreign trade zones. The bill is purely permissive and gives authority to the governor-in-council to establish such ports on application by provinces and municipalities.

It is being sent to the House of Commons for approval after going before a special committee of the upper house which made 10 minor amendments.

WESTMINSTER, Md., June 17.—Ministers' wives needn't try to keep their husbands home with them today, because churchgoers are "not ready for such companionship."

This was one of seven requisites Dr. Monroe, a Washington lay-man, named in addressing the Ministers' Wives Association of Maryland annual conference of the Methodist Protestant Church.

His subject was, "What I Expect of a Minister's Wife." He said he thought she would:

1. Be a womanly woman.
2. Marry the minister as well as the man.
3. Not marry him if she can't enter wholeheartedly into his work.
4. Be a leader, but let him lead, and help in an executive way.
5. Be a good domestic manager, a good housekeeper and have the personality of the open heart.
6. Be religious and possessed of genuine piety.
7. Be truly human and not a saint, as the congregation is not ready for such companionship.

Mrs. Joseph A. Clarke, wife of His Worship the Mayor, who has been attending the conference of the National Council of Women in Halifax, as convener of Town Planning for the Edmonton Council, was given every opportunity to see the beauty of the Maritimes during her visit there. In order to appreciate the scenery at leisure, Mrs. Clarke motored from Windsor, Ontario, to Nova Scotia. She thoroughly enjoyed all the beautiful drives of the port city of the Atlantic, and is loud in praise of the fact that she found the country much as she had pictured it, and wholly delightful.

JUNE

Beauty come to earth one day,
Gliding down a sunbeam ray,
And a legacy is ours—
Fairy offerings in the flowers;
Whisp'ring winds and birds' sweet song,
Babbling brooks that drowse along;
Lilac scent and honey bees,
Velvet foliage on the trees.
Earth and heaven seem in tune
With the loveliness of June.

Who's Who In Club Life

MRS. WILLIAM D. SPENCE

Woven into the historical tapestry of Canada is the life work of Mary Victoria Keen Spence, who as a veteran of the I.O.D.E. and the Women's Canadian Club, benefactor in refuge work for French war orphans and widows and children of sailors, and among other things a charter member of the Edmonton Creche, has become known throughout the Dominion as a champion of mothers and children.

Mrs. Spence was born in Devonshire, England, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Keen but when she was a very small girl her parents moved to St. Mary's, Ontario where she received her public and high school education. She attended Normal school in Stratford, Ontario. Upon graduation, she taught in Perth County as a primary teacher, and later as one of the first women principals in the province.

In 1886 she became the bride of Mr. William D. Spence, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Spence, and it was nine years later, just before Alberta was created a province, that they answered the call of the west and came to live in Calgary.

Service of the I.O.D.E. in which Mrs. Spence has been primary municipal, provincial, and national, has perhaps claimed Mrs. Spence's chief efforts. She secretary for the first chapter organized in southern Alberta, the Colonel Macleod regent of the Tuscona-ish Chapter from 1914 until she came to Edmonton, and municipal regent at Calgary in 1919. From 1912 to 1928 she was provincial organizing secretary, visiting every part of Alberta in the institution of some 25 new chapters. She was also provincial educational secretary and had charge of Alberta's contribution to the Great War Memorial.

ADDRESS IS SENT TO HIS MAJESTY

The only representative from the west, she was elected to the national executive in 1912, and served continuously for the next 16 years. One of the most memorable of the meetings annually at which she presided was one in 1917 when, after she had given a stirring address on "Loyalty to King and Empire and Order," the assembly rose to its feet with one accord, requesting that a copy be sent to His Majesty the King.

Mrs. Spence has always been keenly interested in assimilation of the foreign born and in 1914 forcefully addressed the national meeting in Toronto on the subject. Later, when the I.O.D.E. were allowed to choose a national representative to sit on the advisory committee to the Canadian Immigration Board of the Federal Government, the honor was conferred upon Mrs. Spence and she served for three years.

Leaving Calgary in 1921 she was made the recipient of a beautiful illuminated address and a jewelled badge, from her chapter, in token of appreciation of her work. At present she is an active member of the Westward Ho! Chapter.

RECOGNITION FROM FRANCE

Her time has not been devoted exclusively to the I.O.D.E. however, for on the wall of the charming drawing room of her suite at 43 Strathcona Apartments, is hung a copy of the "Madialle De La Reconnaissance Francaise, conferred by order of the president of the French republic in recognition of Mrs. Spence's work, in conjunction with the French Consul, for French war orphans. The bronze medal itself is among other tokens possessed by Mrs. Spence.

Her gifts as a public speaker and an executive have long been in demand. On behalf of the Navy League and in Alberta she was influential in obtaining large contributions of money and supplies for assistance of the widows and orphans of sailors, not only of the Navy but of Merchant Marine and Trawlers. In gratitude, the organization bestowed upon her the title "Benefactor of Sailors," and the Dominion. Council of the Navy League presented to her a diamond anchor brooch.

WAR RELIEF WORK

During the war too, she turned her attention to work in the food control committee, of Calgary of which she was chairman, acted as vice-president of the Serbian re-

Violet Powder Gives Skin Luminous Look

MADELEINE CARROLL

By GLADYS GLAD

That famous English statesman, Disraeli, it is said, could not touch violets without getting a rash on the back of his hands. Yet he loved the scent of them and their delicate coloring. And I can't very well criticize him for that, for violets are among the loveliest of our blossoms. And violet is also one of the most popular of our shades this season.

The most unique use of the delicate shade of violet, however, is as a powder shade. Madeleine Carroll, young screen star, uses this powder shade often in the evening. According to Madeleine, it tends to give the skin an alluringly delicate, transparent appearance. I can testify that she is right about that. But one must know how to use this powder shade skillfully, if the proper effect is to be achieved.

Violet powder really is excellent for giving the skin a soft, attractively delicate appearance. However, it should be used only under the artificial lights of evening. It is far too likely to make the face appear garish and obviously made up in the clear, revealing light of day. And of course, no maiden wants to look obviously artificial. To use this powder properly, you should mix one-fourth of the violet powder with three-fourths of a part of the powder that you generally use. And besides, you should be sure not to use too much of the violet powder, else it may give your face a somewhat purplish tinge.

NOT BECOMING TO ALL

Despite the delicate, luminous appearance it gives to the skin, therefore, you see violet powder should never be used indiscriminately. Moreover, there are certain types of individuals that this powder does not become at all. Violet powder generally is best suited for girls of blondes and redheads. Girls of this type are naturally fair of coloring. The powder, therefore, should not break up their natural color harmony, but simply adds a more flower-like delicacy to their complexions.

Some brunettes, of course, also find that the violet shaded powder advantageously. This class is very limited, however, and includes only such brunettes as possess very fair skin and rich cheek and lip coloring. Ordinarily, the brunette with dark or dull skin should not use the violet powder, as it will afford too great a contrast with her hair, and will tend to give her an unnatural color.

Minute Make-Ups

By V. V.

6-15

If you want to have a healthy, sunny looking tan use a liquid rouge or one of the new lotions to give this shiny effect. When you apply it remember to go over your entire face with liquid rouge—not even the nose—and to get a natural color dab the liquid on your cheeks two or three times to deepen the color. Don't use powder—it spoils the effect.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Colors

Marie: The following among the new shades coming are becoming to you: Violet, lettuce green, tomato red, cornflower blue and lemon yellow.

Manicuring

Lola: You should indeed be able to give your fingertips a beautifully manicured appearance yourself. Full information on home manicuring is contained in my article on "Care of The Hands and Nails," along with many excellent hand beautifying hints.

Tops

Topsy: It is indeed possible to develop and firm the bust, and at the same time reduce the waist, hips, abdomen, buttocks and thighs. Full information on this is contained in my "New Figure" booklet, along with a general reducing routine that takes off about eight to ten pounds in two weeks.

Teeth

Betty: I would suggest that you have your teeth cleaned and polished by a reliable dentist, to remove all tartar and calerous matter. Proper brushing should then be sufficient to keep your teeth white and sparkling.

GLADY GLAD.

Handwriting Analyzed

By MURIEL STAFFORD

Before I knew anything about graphology I thought people just naturally liked the colors that blended best with their eyes. Blue-eyed people, thought I, would always like blue as a matter of course, and brown-eyed people would like richer colors. I was very much surprised to discover after studying enough handwritings that my theory was not necessarily true.

Blue-eyed people often have a fondness for the brightest and most fulsome reds and dark-eyed people are very often fond of the most delicate pastels and blues.

Neither color of a person's eyes nor any other outward indication makes the slightest difference in her real color preference. A woman may dress in soft shades because they are most becoming to her complexion and yet have an inward passion for deep, rich oriental tones. Her appearance may belie the fact, as I have said, but her writing will disclose it.

YOUR HANDWRITING ANALYZED

Know your assets, handicaps, talents and emotions. Obtain a personal graphology chart. Here are the rules:

Cut this clipping.

Send a sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N.Y.

Include 10 cents in coins (carefully wrapped) for each sample of handwriting you wish analyzed.

Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, folded once.

To know the colors that others prefer is a great advantage. For instance, if you wear a bright-colored outfit when your escort prefers pastel shades your costume will simply be wasted on him. As for the escort—isn't it a help to know whether your girl prefers red roses or hyacinths? Don't choose her flowers according to your own tastes. Consult her handwriting.

First of all, notice the pressure of the writing. The lighter the pressure the more inclined she will be toward light shades of color and the less she will like anything flamboyant.

scarlet geraniums · garden wild rose

Today's specimen of writing is artistic with a strong feeling for rich, deep colors. Notice the dark, even pressure all the way through.

People most attracted by bright and rich colors write heavily. The deeper the pressure the more positive you can be of the fact. They are sure to appreciate oil paintings and oriental rugs.

Shading of letters, sometimes shows a sensuous love of artistically blended colors.

The Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

It is known to most people that female deer do not have horns; but the truth is that males do not have horns, either. The so-called "horns" on deer, elk, moose, reindeer and caribou are not horns at all; they are antlers. Horns are found on cattle, antelope and sheep. They are bulbous, bony growths which are not shed, but are kept through life, and are not replaced if broken off. Antlers are solid, bony growths which are shed and replaced annually or at other intervals, and if broken off, are replaced. Maybe the Devil's horns are really antlers, too!

Boys Must Take More Interest in Marriage

Study of Matrimony in Schools Is Lauded

College Girls Have Taken a Step Forward By Learning How to Balance the Family Budget As Well As Square a Circle

At last the long-awaited marriage course, which is designed to teach boys and girls how to pick out their mates scientifically and the art of getting along with them after they get them, has been established in one of our leading universities, and, so the report says, the first class was attended by 100 women and forty-four men.

Dorothy Dix

There is food for thought in this disparity in the number of specialties of the different sexes who are interested in taking marriage out of the guessing game class and making it one of the learned professions. It makes one wonder whether there are more women who want to be good wives than there are men who want to be good husbands. Or whether women feel that they have more need to improve their technique in marriage than men have.

Or whether men consider that a knowledge of how to deal with all the intricate details of matrimony and the feminine temperament comes to them by nature, as Dogberry thought a knowledge of reading and writing did, in that they have no need to study it. Or whether they propose to wish off on their wives the whole job of making their marriages successes. Or whether they think that anything in the shape of a husband is such a gift of God to a woman that to attempt to improve the species is as much a work of supererogation as gilding the lily or painting the rose.

Of course, any of these suppositions, or all of them, may be correct and explain why more than twice as many girls as boys enrolled in the class for the study of marriage. Little as we women like to admit it, marriage is far more important to us than it is to men and it is much more necessary for wives to be matrimonial experts than it is for husbands to be. It is, of course, highly desirable and makes marriage a grand success for a woman, if her husband is tender and kind and diplomatic and understanding and keeps her eating out of his hand, but it is vital to a wife to know how to concoct angels' food that will make him prefer home fare to any refreshment that is offered to him abroad.

For marriage is not only a woman's avocation, it is her vocation, and not only her happiness, but her physical and financial wellbeing depend upon her success in it. As a general thing she gives to the job of being a wife the best of her youth and energy and enthusiasm, the time and the qualities that she might have employed in acquiring skill in some money-producing occupation. Hence if she is not happy in her marriage, she has little to fall back on to solace her weary of her that he forsakes her, she has lost out on every count.

Wives bitterly resent being told of the efforts they should make to retain their husbands' love. They want to know why they should jolly their husbands along instead of bawling them out, and why they should keep themselves looking young and pretty and attractive and be interesting and entertaining and wear themselves out keeping their husbands perpetually vamped.

And the answer is that as long as a wife can keep her husband in love with her and thinking her the only woman in the world she has not only makes him happy, but is happier herself, and she is safe from the jealousies and fears that tear so many women's hearts to tatters. And a husband spends his money on her and the children instead of other ladies.

Anyhow, it is heartening to learn that college girls are taking up the study of marriage in a serious way and realizing that it is more profitable to them to learn how to run a budget than it is to square the circle, and that it is better for a wife to be able to speak honeyed words to her husband than for her to be able to converse in foreign languages. The trouble has been heretofore that girls had to learn all of the things that they needed to know about managing a husband and marriage, which made the information come too late to do them any good, and so there is no doubt that they will be saved much grief by being taught these things in their school days.

And let us hope that an increasing number of boys will join the matrimonial course and that they will take to heart its lessons and save them much misery and alimony. Concerning even such elementary matters as picking out a wife and how to treat her, most men are abysmally ignorant, and it takes the average man about two funerals or three divorces to learn how to be a good husband. Anyway, here's wishing the school good luck.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Dear Mrs. Barton: I have a small, they seemed to be having a good son who was ill for several years in babyhood. It resulted in an atrophy of the legs that prevented his taking part in outdoor games.

I never spoke of it to him and told him that many people could not run fast. He knew he was different but did not feel sad about it. Instead he began to marshall other tots about him and make them obey as he said. And they seemed to like it.

O. R. Barton

Then he slowly recovered and started school. I thought that would end his "bossy" way. But one day I saw him with the whole recreation ground lined up. The children were going through stunts at his orders given in a loud commanding voice. And time. He has very original ideas, I must say, but I worry because he will have to give in to the others. Have you any suggestions to make?

(Signed) MRS. X.

ESCAPE FROM BULLYDOM

No suggestions—only congratulations. Good for Tommy.

What would you think if your boy had developed an inferiority complex and held himself aloof from society of other children; or a defense mechanism of bully-ism to cover his real feelings?

He just escaped that, evidently, because he does "crack the whip" as you say. But the difference between despotism and rulership is the contentment and happiness of the subjects. Tommy possesses the magic secret of all true leadership, apparently, and his friends accept him willingly and, we might almost say, gratefully, with his new ideas and ability to organize.

GUARD AGAINST WILLFULNESS

There is nothing wrong with the leader idea. Some one has to be "it." The only thing a mother has to keep an eye on is any tendency to obstinacy or impatience when frustrated. He should be willing to listen to others and give attention to what they have to say. If everything is too easy and too soft, he can easily develop an unbearable arrogance.

The parent can tactfully teach lessons in the quality of real greatness, and show that it includes generosity, kindness and appreciation of other people's ideas. There is so much material to work on in a child of Tommy's type that there should be no great difficulty.

You won't have much trouble, I dare say, as you have already won a victory in your child's attitude toward what looked for years like a permanent disability.

Manners Of The Moment

By JEAN LYON

All he needs is a halo.

My boy friend finds it very embarrassing when I know what to do with his hat in elevators. If he takes it off he is the cynosure of all eyes. If he keeps it on he feels that he is false to home and mother—he comes from the South. Sometimes in a moment of indecision he gets his hand up to the hat brim and then fumbles. It wouldn't be so bad if he had a hat pin to fool with or a wisp of hair to straighten out. But he hasn't. All he can do is fumble and wish the elevator would stop.

Just to keep him from worrying about it I've worked out this little guide for him. It's probably useful for him to keep his hat on, even if a woman does enter the car, if he is in a heavily masculine business section in a heavy masculine office building. But in apartment house elevators, hotel elevators, department store elevators and ritzy office buildings, it's hat off when a woman enters.

Perfect Coffee Is Quite Easy To Make

By MARY E. DAGUE

I know good housekeepers who say that they can't make good gravy, that they always have had luck with pie crust, that their coffee is terrible. Seems pretty silly, though, doesn't it, when these things are so simple to get right?

Sister Mary

Coffee making is the most universal problem of the lot. The perfect brew of a coffee is expensive doesn't necessarily mean that you will have good coffee if you use it. The price you pay is not all-important, nor the guarantee. That it be fresh, though, matters greatly.

MEASURE INGREDIENTS

Decide how many cups you will need for the meal. Then allow one full measuring cup of water to each cup of coffee required. If you use a percolator, start with cold water. Use 2 level tablespoonfuls of coffee to each cup. Add one or two extra tablespoonfuls for the pot. This formula always applies whether you have a percolator or some other kind of pot.

Let the water boil and the minute it begins to come up through the top of the percolator, notice the time. When the coffee has percolated ten minutes, take the pot from the fire.

Filtered coffee is made by pouring boiling water until it must be actively boiling—over finely ground coffee.

Gravy can be made successfully two ways. One way is to stir the flour into the proper amount of fat left in the roasting pan and add the right amount of cold water, stirring until the gravy boils and is perfectly smooth.

ALTERNATE RECIPE

The other way to make it is to add water to the fat in the pan and bring it to the boiling point. Put some sifted flour into a bowl and slowly add cold water, stirring all the while, to make a smooth paste. Add enough more water to make the paste pour easily and pour into the boiling gravy. Season with salt and pepper and cook and stir until boiling. Use a tablespoonful of flour to every cup thicken two cups of gravy. This kind of gravy should be cooked several minutes after it thickens. It's easy to make but you MUST have the paste perfectly smooth and free from lumps. Lumps will not cook out, you see. They will swell in the hot stock and be there to stay.

Bacon is another simple fond of ten poorly cooked. Remember that all cured meats should be cooked slowly. The curing process dries and firms the tissue to a certain extent, making it impossible to cook it over a low flame to prevent crisping before the meat is sufficiently done. Put bacon in a cold spider and cook slowly, pouring off the fat and never letting it smoke.

ABOUT FRYING BACON

If you fry eggs in bacon fat, return the bacon fat to the spider and heat but do not let it reach the smoking point. Slip the eggs into the fat, which should be just hot enough to cook an egg without curling at the edges. Cover the frying pan and cook until the white is set, but the yolks are pink on top. It will take about five minutes to fry an egg this way. Serve the fat from the smoking point.

When you cook a slice of ham, trim some of the fat from the edges and rub it over a heavy iron frying pan which has been heated just enough to melt the fat and make the surface of the spider look shiny. Cool the spider for a few minutes and then put in the slice of ham and cook over a low fire.

Tomorrow's Menu

LUNCHEON: Cream of garden spinach soup, toast sticks, potato and sardine salad, ice cream cookies, grape juice.

DINNER: Broiled lamb chops on toast, new peas in cream, endive salad with French dressing, chilled custard with fresh fruit, milk, coffee.

What To Do

I am on the committee to plan our high school banquet this year. Can you suggest a new and different way to arrange the tables—we have had one long table and various other time the tables were arranged in the form of a U, but there must be still a different arrangement. I'll be looking for your answer in the column.

FLORENCE CARR.

Answer—There is still several other arrangements I can think of and for a small number of guests I would suggest a T-shaped table, or you might consider a head table with two, three or four tables at right angles to the head table. The tables could be covered with white cloths and down the centre of each roll a long strip of crepe paper in the class colors, wide at the top, but tapering to a point, pennant-wise. Flowers may be massed in low bowls for each table, and short brass or pewter candlesticks used to hold fat, long-burning candles. Whatever else you have planned for entertainment

What New York Is Wearing

By Helen Williams

2823

Here's a useful dress for summer in town or in the country.

The buttoned shoulder accents the flattering neckline. A tailored feeling is noted in the stitched back pleat from neck to hem. It will give you a lovely tall appearance. Two hip pockets and a single breast pocket, add to its sportive-air.

It is made of soft cotton in chantung weave in aqua-blue. Besides being enticingly cool, it tubs like a handkerchief. The trim is navy.

Again, you'll like it in white tub silk or natural linen with flamingo-red buttons, belt and pocket "hanky".

The sleeves cut in one with the bodice, make it exceptionally simple to sew.

Style No. 2823 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with 2 yards of ribbon for belt.

Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Contract Bridge

By E. V. Shepard

MOST UNEXPECTED RESULT

Outside the ranks of the professional and semi-professional bridge players there will be found few players more able than Mr. Charles King, Knickerbocker Whist Club. He also is one of the most charming partners to be found anywhere. I have yet to see him annoyed or outwardly disturbed at any happening at the table, which I assure you is rare indeed. The unexpected result of the following deal appealed so to Mr. King's sense of humor that he gave me the hand, with the interesting details of the result.

Mr. King sat South and dealt. Bidding went: South, 1-Diamond; West, 1-Heart; North, 1-Spade; West, 2-Clubs, to show his great strength; North, 2-Diamonds; West, 3-Hearts; North, 4-Spades; West, 5-Hearts. Wanting partner to shift to the minor made, if he preferred; North, 5-Spades; West, 6-Hearts, which South doubled. With three and one-half quick tricks, and partner supporting, while East remained silent and refused to assist, the double appeared to be a very promising one.

The 4 of spades was led. Declarer's ace of Aces won. The 5 of clubs was led back and dummy's singleton 7 was put to doubles. Ace. The opening lead showed declarer void of spades, but it could do no harm to ruff him, as the K of spades was led by South. West ruffed with the 2.

The next three tricks were taken with declarer's Ace of Hearts, dummy's K and declarer's Q of that same suit, cleaning up opposing trumps and leaving a single heart in dummy and one in declarer's hand. Somehow the double did not appear so good as when it was made. Declarer had won five of the first six tricks taken, but probably a minor suit trick or so might still be won by defenders. That may have been the last hope of the doubler and his partner. But that was not to be.

Two rounds of winning clubs took out the last card of that suit held by the doubler, leaving the rest of declarer's clubs long, with no losers in other suits. Mr. King had a real surprise on the outcome of that deal.

Well as Mr. King plays, with four spades and four diamonds in East's hand, the Ace of spades held by West, and ability to force two ruffs from the South hand, had either member of the doubling side elected to play a small slam at diamonds or spades, the path would have been both difficult and expensive.

WHEAT HOLDS QUIET, STEADY

WINNIPEG, June 17—Wheat prices held quietly steady on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, responsive to firmness in other markets. Values closed unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, July at 78⅝, October 79¼-⅜ and December 79½ cents.

With selling at a minimum throughout the dull session, prices had little difficulty remaining close to the previous closing levels.

Continued lack of rainfall over the United States northwest, resulting in further reports of crop damage in parts of the American spring-wheat territory, prompted some speculative buying.

Minneapolis was up fractionally, and small gains were scored at Chicago. Prices at Liverpool closed ¼-½d higher.

Foreign demand for Canadian wheat continued quiet, today's export sales aggregating less than 200,000 bushels. Cash wheat and coarse grains were steady.

BROOMHALL

CHICAGO, June 17.—Total stocks of Canadian wheat, including the bonded stocks, now total 149,000,000 compared to 197,000,000 a year ago. Farmers, however, are still delivering old wheat at the rate of nearly 500 cars a day, anxious to obtain the attractive price guarantee by the government, so that by the end of the season the supply left on farms is likely to be very small. Yesterday's rains were very beneficial, especially in Saskatchewan, and rather lighter in Alberta. Winnipeg had a good downpour which lasted all night.

Donovan's reports from the U.S. spring wheat belt are not encouraging. The wheat in a large area is apparently unhealthy and in need of rain. The scattered showers of yesterday were only of temporary relief, as temperatures were so high that the rain could not sink in very far. A period of general rain is necessary to prevent further deterioration. The trade is very nervous about conditions in western Russia and northwest America, but practically everywhere else prospects are about normal.

Since the first of the year wheat prices have declined slowly except for a light rally in April. Winnipeg declined from 90 cents on Jan. 1, Chicago from 92, Liverpool from 6s 6d per cental to 5s 9d and Rotterdam from 94 to 86 cents. Stocks at Rotterdam and Antwerp are only 1,347,000 compared to 2,537,000 a year ago. Liverpool stocks are now 2,248,000 against 2,424,000 last year.

LONDON CLOSING

The industrial group was firm with Trans-atlantic shares, tobaccos, steel and electrical equipment issues in fair demand. BLUM ISSUES HINT FORCED DEVALUATION

By ROBERT PARKER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

PARIS, June 17. — Premier Leon Blum warned an excited and critical Senate last night that forced devaluation might be the answer to failure of his "spending" remedy for France.

He said his plans, embracing legislative provisions for deep-seated social and economic changes, formed the only alternative to increased deflation.

No one, he declared, "envisages such a solution" as devaluation "outside of international arrangements and an agreed and general alignment of money."

NOISY DISPUTE

Just previously, Senate criticism of Blum's program had been climaxed by a noisy dispute with a prominent advocate of devaluation of the franc, Joseph Caillaux, former finance minister.

The dispute, begun when the Premier mentioned President Roosevelt's "experiment" in the United States, caused temporary suspension of the usually staid Senate.

OIL RESOURCES LOW

At the same time, a continued strike of oil refinery workers, some reports said, threatened to drain naval and military petroleum resources. It was one of the scattered walkouts which remained in the wake of the ebbing national strike movement.

Blum also declared his program favored "democratic institutions," and added: "I have heard myself compared to Hitler. That is something, I assure you, which I did not expect."

Caillaux, Blum's disputant Tuesday, only recently joined the devaluationist movement which also numbers Charles Rist, the economist, among its converts.

Caillaux jumped up to dispute with Blum after the premier had referred to the Roosevelt record.

VASTER EXPERIMENT

"M. Roosevelt tried an experiment vaster and deeper than ours," said the premier. "The fact is, he already has begun by raising the purchasing power."

Caillaux interjected "He first took measures of great importance." (Apparently he meant devaluation of the dollar.)

Blum retorted: "But Roosevelt worked under less favorable conditions than ours. We want to make a start."

The voices of other senators drowned them out.

Later, replying to the senate criticism, Blum appealed for confidence. He asked the senate to "consider the expectations and hopes which have been placed on the laws we ask you to vote."

"Nobody wants devaluation, including the finance committee," he added. "The return to prosperity which we expect will bring back a healthy budget."

First Steamship Built On Clyde

The publicity given the Queen Mary on her maiden voyage across the Atlantic directs attention to the fact that it was less than 150 years ago since the first practical steamship was constructed in Scotland.

In the latter part of 1789 trials were carried out, upon the Forth and Clyde Canal at Falkirk, of what was really the first practical steamship—that of William Symington. The engines were made at Carron Works. In 1801 the "Charlotte Dundas" was built by Symington. This ship was carefully examined by Robert Fulton the American inventor whose ships did not appear on the Hudson River until 1807.

ALASKA FEELS HEAVY HEAT

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, June 17.—Residents of "Seward's ice box" sought relief today from Alaska's prolonged heat wave.

For the past 10 days unusually high temperatures have been recorded from the interior to the coast with Seward reporting an unofficial 108—the highest reading in the history of the territory. Two persons were overcome yesterday at Seward.

The heat added to the difficulties of foresters attempting to check a forest fire which was threatening the town of Homer, 100 miles southwest of Seward.

Temperatures in the interior ranged in the 70's and 80's. A new three-year high was recorded here with 85 in the shade. Barrow on the Arctic ocean had a 44.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Death before a police firing squad was decreed today for "Wally," sixton bull elephant that gored and trampled his keeper, Edward Brown, 23, to death in apparent rage at being separated from four female pachyderms.

C.C.F. OUSTS MISS CRANG FROM GROUP

Object to Her Actions Subsequent to Ainlay Nomination

Aid. Margaret Crang, Independent-Progressive candidate in the forthcoming provincial bye-election, was officially ousted from the C. C. F. party at a campaign committee meeting Tuesday night. This action was taken owing to the fact that Miss Crang had offered herself as a candidate when the C.C.F. had nominated H. D. Ainlay as a contestant for the seat, but after being unable to carry the convention had "bolted" and was now running as an independent candidate with the endorsation of the Communist party.

The committee also suspended Harold Gerry, vice-president of the C.C.F. clubs, for supporting Aid. Crang's candidature. By resolution, it was decided that Mr. Gerry could not attend committee meetings nor take part in the C.F. campaign until such times as he withdrew his support from Aid. Crang.

Miss Crang was formerly a member of the C.C.F. and Labor parties.

Resolution passed by the C.C.F. executive committee and which deals with Aid. Crang's status with the C.C.F. organization reads: "That in view of Miss Crang's acceptance of a nomination in opposition to the C.C.F. candidate, Miss Crang, in the opinion of the executive, automatically severes her connection with the C.C.F."

Comrade Margaret Crang will receive the unanimous support of the Communist party of Edmonton in her election campaign, it was announced by Comrade Jan Lakeman, leader of the party here, Wednesday morning. "We are solidly behind Comrade Crang," said Comrade Lakeman when interviewed in the committee rooms of the United People's candidate. "Not only will she get our votes, but we will, as we have been, get out and work for her."

STERCO TAKES CREDIT OPENING OF GOLDFIELDS

Coal Company Says Financial Aid Started 1934 Boom

Prospecting operations and samples brought back by Tom Box brought about the boom in Lake Athabasca mineral fields in 1935, Hon. Mitchell, secretary of Sterling Collieries, said in supreme civil court Wednesday.

Mr. Mitchell stated on the witness stand that his company had financed Box through 1931, '32, '33 and '34 and had an agreement on which they were to collect 50-50 on any proceeds. In 1934 Box sold certain claims to Consolidated Smelters, who are joined in the action, under an agreement through which he is to receive ultimately about $35,000, of which Sterling Collieries demand half.

FORD PRESIDES

Mr. Justice Ford is hearing the action. S. W. Field, K.C. and J. A. Tuck are counsel for the plaintiff. L. Y. Cairns, K.C., for the defence.

"You were sort of half-hearted about those claims in 1932?" Mr. Cairns asked in cross-examination.

"Yes, we were," Mr. Mitchell replied.

"Then in 1934 Lake Athabasca boomed?"

"Yes, it did."

"Was it because you sent Box up there that the area boomed?" Mr. Cairns asked. "Did Box cause the boom?"

OF COURSE

"Of course," Mr. Field cut in.

"Yes, we believe so," Mr. Mitchell answered.

Mitchell said he had told Box that his company was anxious to make a disposal of some of the claims and that Box had put considerable money into them and had added, "I'd hate to be stuck with it."

"Would that have given Box the idea that you had financed him personally in 1934?" Mr. Cairns asked.

"Yes, it might have," Mr. Mitchell conceded.

BONDHOLDERS STILL ASKING CO-OPERATION

J. M. Macdonnell Expresses Hope Before Leaving For Toronto Home

Hope that further progress could be made toward co-operation between the government and the Alberta bondholders, was expressed by J. M. Macdonnell, chairman of the eastern bondholders delegation, which interviewed the government last week, prior to his return to Toronto.

"Premier William Aberhart and his cabinet received us very courteously, listened to our presentation carefully and explained their point of view clearly," said Mr. Macdonnell. "For myself I express the hope that in view of the great importance of the issues involved we may all give to the matter the patient and thorough consideration which it deserves."

In accordance with the decision reached at the recent conference between bondholders and government Courtland Elliott will continue to remain here to continue his investigation into the state of provincial finances, in the study of which he will be assisted by eastern specialists.

Ten meadow mice to each acre, in a 100-acre meadow, will eat 11 tons of grass annually.

MAYOR WILL CONTEST SEAT AGAIN IN '36

Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., expects there will be about 10 candidates for the office of Edmonton's mayor in the civic elections next November, and I'll bet I'll get as many votes as the whole 10 together," he said Wednesday, thus making his first official announcement that he would stand for re-election again this year.

Those mentioned as possible mayoralty candidates include Ald. J. W. Fry, ex-Ald. J. H. Ogilvie, ex-Mayor Dan K. Knott and Ald. Margaret Crang, who still has another term to serve on the aldermanic board.

TIRES, JEWELS SALES RULING HANDED DOWN

Gunderson Issues Latest Set of New Regulations Here

Venders of new or used tires must collect the two per cent sales tax from the purchaser thereof, according to a ruling under the enabling legislation, issued on Wednesday by E. M. Gunderson, acting superintendent of the Sales Tax branch of the provincial treasury department.

The ruling further states that "persons who repair and vulcanize rubber tires and inner tubes utilize certain materials which are not usually invoiced separately. They are the consumers of these materials and are not to collect the two per cent tax for the repairs executed for their customers, but must pay the two per cent tax to the supply houses on all their purchases of materials as well as on the machinery and the tools which they use in the exercise of their trade.

JEWELRY RULES

Mr. Gunderson also released a ruling in reference to jewellers and jewelry repair shops.

In this, it is provided that jewellers and jewelry repair shops primarily render services as to repairing and cleaning of watches, clocks and jewelry, and therefore are not required to collect thereon, the two per cent. tax from the customers paying for such services.

ON PURCHASES

When jewellers and repair shops purchase articles of machinery and equipment and such supplies as springs, crystals, jewel staffs, gold, silver and solder, which are used incidentally in the rendering of such services, they must pay the two per cent. tax to supply houses.

They are not to pay the two per cent. tax to supply houses on watches, watch chains and straps, clocks, pens and rings, when they purchase such articles for resale, but must collect the tax from the customer who becomes the ultimate purchaser.

FIRE DRIVES EIGHT FROM CLUB ROOMS

101 Street Building Badly Damaged Early Wednesday Morning

Eight men were forced to fight their way through a dense cloud of smoke and down a flight of stairs to the street, when fire of unknown origin, which started in the back of the De Luxe Barber Shop, 10243 101 street, shortly after 1:30 a.m., caused considerable damage to the two-storey frame building owned by A. Cristall.

The fire was first observed by Bill Dorosoff, of the International Society, which occupies the top floor of the building, when smoke came up through the floor. He immediately rushed from the building and ran a block to the alarm box.

In the meantime some eight men playing cards in the International Society club rooms were forced to feel their way through a dense smoke and down a flight of stairs to the street.

Bill Shadlock, last to leave the building claimed that he was almost suffocated by the smoke.

Besides the International Society operated by George Girvan, who carries no insurance, the DeLuxe barber shop, Tony Vaslas' tailor shop and the John Ewaskiw. He has no insurance. Henry Koonan, who owns the taxi stand also is without insurance. Abe Cristall, owner of the premises claims that the place is insured for $1,000. Three lines of hose were used to extinguish the surance. The building, owned by Abe Cristall, is insured for $1,000.

WIDOW LOSES $30,000 SUIT AGAINST C.P.

Mr. Justice Ford Suggests Railway Company Bear Its Own Costs

Mrs. Martha Killips lost her suit for $30,000 damages against the Canadian Pacific Railway for the death of her husband, Harry Hugh Killips, when Mr. Justice Ford gave judgment Tuesday afternoon.

His lordship found that the engineer of the train, in his actions when in collision with the taxi-cab in which Killips was riding, had not shown negligence, but had exercised reasonable judgment.

NON-CONTRIBUTORY

He stated that the defendant was entitled to costs of the action, but suggested that they be waived. D. L. Smith, K.C., counsel for the railway, said he could not make any statement at the time, but would try to see that His Lordship's suggestion was carried out.

The plaintiff, who sued on behalf of herself and her two infant children, said her only income was a mother's allowance. Counsel were Hugh Calais Macdonald, K.C. and Max Wershof for the plaintiff, D. W. Clapperton, K.C., associated with Mr. Smith in the defence.

DRIVER NEGLIGENT

"I agree with Mr. Smith that the deceased driver was guilty of grave negligence in putting himself in the position of peril which resulted in his death," the judge said.

"Saying that 'during the perfect thing' might have avoided the consequences. His Lordship added. "I am not convinced that if the engineer had applied his brake he could have avoided the collision. But he was not negligent when he made his judgment as he did."

The accident occurred November 29, 1934, on the level crossing at 84 avenue and 103 street.

POLICE STILL HUNT PANEK

Police parties have not yet reported the capture of George Panek, Cadomin miner who inflamed the coal branch countryside by shooting three people in their homes last week, although the search has widened to cover an area reaching into Jasper Park.

Panek's food must be running low, it is felt, unless he has managed to steal some more at some cabin. Provisions were taken in the days since the outrage, although he returned by stealth the next night and took enough to last him what probably food from his rooming house.

Panek is not a bushman, and the chance that he should subsist by shooting small game or fishing is small.

The three victims, Mrs. John Jess, Andrew Istvan and John Carmac, hospital cases here, are making favorable progress and expected to recover, according to a report today.

Gandhi, Monkey Who Swims, Learned Art After Joining YMCA

Astounds South Side Pool Patrons With Diving Performance

Gandhi, the swimming monkey, has shown the world that he at least of the simian tribes is not afraid of water; in fact, he can show many swimmers a thing or two.

Gandhi, who early in life sailed nearly all the seven seas, was brought to Edmonton by Ronnie Keith, 10028 89 avenue, attendant at the south side swimming pool. He came around the world from India, the western hemisphere, the Suez, across the Atlantic to New York, as a baby. It was the last lap of an Oriental tour which Ronnie made vagabond style, circling the world.

JOINS Y. M. C. A.

Since he came to Edmonton, little Gandhi, of the pop-eyes and wizened face, has learned to swim. He learned when he joined the Y. M. C. A.

Last summer Ronnie took him out to the "Y" camp at Edmonton Beach, where he entered into the games with the boys and became a regular member of the gang.

When they went swimming, he would sit on the beach. But this got lonesome. He soon took a venture-some step into the water, scuttled back to the dry sand, sat there a minute thinking about it, and tried it again.

JUST A SISSY

He waded out to where it was a few inches deep, sat down and began swishing the water with his hands, like an elderly lady trying to be brave about it all.

But he liked it and soon became one of the best swimmers of the camp. He quickly mastered the crawl stroke, which he uses, with improvements.

And dive! He caught the south side pool officials off guard one day when he made a 10-foot leap from the end of the springboard to catch a bug he saw swimming.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

It's an old saying that he who walks under a ladder, lets a black cat cross his path, sings before breakfast, or any other superstitious saying, will come into a stroke of bad luck before the day is out. With this in mind Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter decided to ask the following questions:

"Is it a sign of lack of intelligence to be superstitious?" Here's what they say:

TOMMY WARRING, clerk: "Yes. I would say it was a sign of ignorance."

EDNA HEATON, nurse: "Many a black cat crossed my path and I'm none the worse off for it."

HENRY BERNSTEIN, book-keeper: "They should be superstitious people with a butterfly net."

JACK HILLARY, clerk: "Oh, I don't know so much about that except that I once walked under a ladder and a pail of paint fell on me. I was wearing my good suit, too."

ERNIE MILLS, government employee: "Most people who are not smart enough to get out of scrapes like to blame their misfortunes on the black cat that crossed their path that morning, or when they spilled a little salt on the tablecloth at breakfast."

* * *

JACK FERGUSON, clerk: "It always suits those who are fond of alibing."

Percy Page, Business Executive Par Excellence—Plenty of Heat Too, Please!

When Percy Page's Grads leave Edmonton on Friday, it will be the start of the third European tour that this world-famous basketball mentor has taken with a team of Edmonton girls. Most cities of Edmonton's dimensions and resources have never been able to send a squad of athletes across the ocean under their own power once, let alone three times.

Fully as remarkable as his coaching ability, is the business acumen of the Grad mentor. Great coaches have come to the surface in all lines of sport, but there have been mighty few, if any, that had the ability to make their clubs just as sound financially as they were athletically. This remarkable ability is one of the facets of Percy Page which few fans have ever stopped to consider. Without business astuteness, of the first water behind them, the Grads would never have been able to reach the heights that they have. The engineering of one European tour is just about enough to hold the average man for life, but to engineer three is a record in itself.

When the Grads are wading through a team of American champions for a smashing victory, the fans will readily allow that Coach Page is nothing less than a wizard, but there is probably not a dozen in a crowd of two thousand that ever give a thought to the tremendous amount of careful, detailed planning and financing that were needed to make the series possible. To successfully take care of this end alone would be an imposing assignment for most men, while to coach and drill a team at the same time and still carry on the duties of principal of a big school would be absolutely impossible. However in spite of this staggering burden, Percy still finds time to play a good stiff game of golf.

There is another angle of the Grads' tour which they would be the last to remind the citizens of and that is its tremendous advertising value to the city. There are scores of cities on the North American Continent that would lay a good many dollars on the line for the publicity such a team and tour will give. It is almost impossible to lay your finger on some definite thing and say it is the result of such indirect advertising, but big benefits accrue from it just the same. No city can afford to be constantly missed by the spotlight of world news. The mere fact that the Grads are to play exhibition games on their way to Montreal has brought columns of the finest publicity already from Regina to Toronto. Several hundred Toronto fans are expected to go to Peterboro to see the Page team play there.

Financiers, Ahoy!

Tonight in the council chambers at the Civic Block, the proposals for putting in an artificial ice plant at the Arena for the coming winter will be laid on the table at a public meeting by Alderman Hugh John Macdonald, who has been collecting facts and figures on the proposition for some time.

This meeting is for the purpose of discussing ways and means of financing the undertaking which will cost around $50,000. This is admittedly a good sized piece of change, but the returns that can reasonably be expected are also of imposing proportions. The one factor that must be given even more care than the financing is the management. The right man will make the undertaking pay a nice profit, but a man who is just half good enough will put it into the red in a hurry.

The need for this plant is not so much for the actual making of ice as to enable the Arena to offer fast ice and a comfortable temperature for fans at the same time. Once the plant is installed, the Arena can be heated so that overcoats and felt shoes will not be necessary. Given such comfort, the fans will quickly fill the seats that have been vacant for so many years. This heating is just as essential as the installation of ice-making equipment, and must be figured into the cost of the undertaking. It is very doubtful if the present furnace equipment at the Arena will even begin to make the place comfortable when it is thirty or forty below outside.

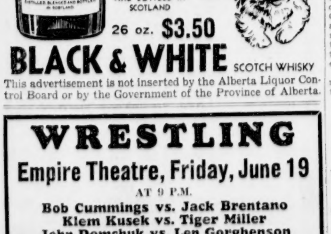

Random Ramblings at "30"

Since Joe DiMaggio arrived in the major baseball picture this season you may think that the Italians are dominating the show, but the Irish and Germans are still in command. Germans lead all nationalities with 27 full-blooded major league players, the Irish are second with 21, while the English are third with 14. There are only nine full-blooded Italians in the big show and four Hebrews. In the part-blood classification, the Irish are away out in front with 59 players.

Teams At Full Strength For the Opening Game On Renfrew Park Diamond

With both Cardinals and Sissias at full strength and itching to get going, the first Edmonton game of the Northern Alberta Baseball League will be played at Renfrew Park tonight.

The game was scheduled for Tuesday but was postponed on account of rain. The opening ceremony will be kept intact with His Honor Lieut.-Governor W. L. Walsh, Premier W. A. Aberhart, and Mayor Joseph A. Clarke officiating. Both teams, Cardinals and Shastas, together with the Grads in full dress will take part in the flag-hoisting parade.

Both squads have all their players and with the additional day for brisk workouts will be in fine form. The ceremonies will start at 6:15 p.m.

Expect Keen Fight In City Golf Meet

Powerful Field Will Seek To Lift Crown From Martell — Play Will Start Sunday

Today scores of Edmonton golfers are tuning up their games for a bid for the city amateur championship when the qualifying round is played over the Country Club course next Sunday.

This year it is expected that well over 100 shotmakers will be battling for the crown that Henry Martell is now wearing. Mr. Martell will also be battling to retain that crown and present indications that the golfer who lifts the title from the Prince Rupert ace will have to be plenty good.

However there are a goodly number that will make the title chase a mighty serious battle all the way. Doug. Kilbourn, the new Country champion, looms as a potent threat, while across the river at Mayfair there is a battery of big guns, any one of which may blast through to the title. Jack Starky is playing in top form and annexed the Mayfair club championship last Sunday. "Whit" Matthews is having a good season and playing a tremendous amount of competitive golf. His team-mate Bobby Proctor, is also red hot.

Out at the Highlands club, young Pete Olynyk is figured as a shot maker who is going to make things tough for a lot of title aspirants. He is burning up the east end course with low seventies.

There will be 32 players in the championship flight, with 16 in each of the other flights. The first and second rounds will be played on July 1 and the finals on July 5. Only members of city golf clubs are eligible for entry. These entries may be made through the secretaries of the various clubs, although post entries will be accepted at the tee.

Bill White, secretary of the Edmonton Golf Association will be the starter.

GREAT GOLF

By ART KRENZ

Since women are short hitters, the department thinks they should practice and become experts in the short game.

It is around the greens that many strokes are lost. The player who can chip close to the pin picks up the stroke lost through the inability to hit hard.

To play the chip, it is essential that the club be kept low and close to the ground. This prevents it from descending and ascending abruptly, which often is the cause of hitting behind, or topping the ball.

It often is said that this shot must be made with the wrists only. When the stroke is played in this manner, however, the club must strike the ball at the lowest point in the arc for the most accurate shot. Your chances of error are then greater than if the hands are allowed to go forward with the stroke. This action keeps the club low and close to the ground.

GRADS BILLED TO PLAY PICK OF EUROPEANS

Will See Most Of European Continent On Long Tour

Edmonton Grads, world champion basketeers, will leave here on Friday for a two and a half months tour which will take them across Canada, to the Berlin Olympics and back and forth across Europe for at least 10 exhibition games with the pick of Continental talent.

This will be the third European tour for Edmonton's world famous team, Coach Percy Page having taken a team to the Amsterdam Olympics and another one to the Empire Games when they were staged in England.

It is suggested that on account of the short stop-overs in the various cities through which the Grads pass that all mail should be sent to the girls at London, with instructions to forward. The following address is recommended by the steamship company: Miss Mary Smith, Edmonton Grads Basketball Team, Canadian Pacific Steamship Offices, 62-64 Charing Cross, London. In the lower left-hand corner, write "Please forward." The postal rate to London is three cents.

EMERY HALL BOXING CARD NEXT MONDAY

To Raise Funds To Send Edmonton Boxers To Olympic Trials

With the sole object of providing funds for Edmonton's Northern Alberta champions to make the trip to Montreal for the boxing trials there in mid-July, the Edmonton and District Boxing and Wrestling Association is staging a boxing card at the Emery Hall on Monday, June 22.

While the actual card has not yet been announced a good lineup is promised fans who attend the show. They will be assured of a good card and at the same time will be helping out local boys in their endeavors to snatch further laurels along the fight trail.

Those who are expected to make the Montreal trip are Oliver Shanks, Alberta 175-pounds open champion, Billy Pollard, open champ in the 135-pound class, Jimmy Chapman, champion in the 112-pound class.

All these boys have given ample proof both in the Northern Alberta eliminations and the provincial trials, that they have Olympic possibilities and they are expected to do very well at Montreal against Canada's best amateurs.

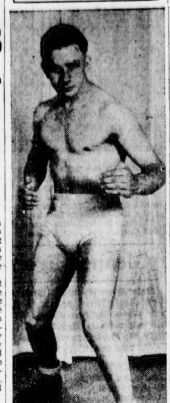

The boxing commission has expressed deep thanks for the co-operation given them in promoting funds for these boys to W. B. Wallace, local boxing enthusiast, who has let his hall free of charge for Monday's card.

With a strong committee headed by Doug Kerr as president and Frank Keller as treasurer promoting the card, high hopes are held that Edmonton's boxers will be able to make the Montreal trip. The drive for funds is backed by the Edmonton and District Boxing and Wrestling Association.

Oliver Shanks, who hails from Athabasaka, is losing no time and is reported already on his way to Montreal for the trials. He is a brother to Alcide Shanks, who has been quite prominent in professional cards.

Others on the card will be Bob Cummings vs. Jack Brentano in the headline with Klem Kusek and Tiger Miller in the semi-main.

Good Rassle Card Booked

Cummings and Brentano Meet In Main Go

While two headline event's will go a long way in featuring Mike Cutcher's middleweight wrestling at the Empire theatre Friday night, the performance of Edmonton's John Demchuk in the preliminary will also be watched with much interest. Demchuk meets Len Jorghenson, the latter also a clever grappler in the bout which will open the card at 9:00 o'clock.

The main events have been booked with Bob "Bad Boy" Cummings meeting Jack Brentano, late of Vancouver, in a two-fall bout or 90 minute time limit. Supporting the main go will have that little loved Klem Kusek, who of late has been putting the necessary finishing touches on the bouts which have been giving the fans every kind of enjoyable entertainment. Kusek in his bout meets up with Tiger Miller, the latter a rough and tough fellow who has performed here only once, but one who is expected to give Kusek all he deserves.

A ticket sale opens tomorrow morning at Mike's.

Edmonton Yacht Club Holds Race

G. Barnhouse Leads June Series—Has 20 Points

The Edmonton Yacht Club sailed the second race in the June series in the 14-foot dinghy class at South Cooking Lake at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, resulting in another win for the "Dorothy" sailed by Skipper G. Barnhouse with 20 points to date. The "Audrie," owned by W. Dick and sailed by Bill Gosling is a close second with 17 points.

Ten boats faced the starting line with F. Barnhouse acting as starter. There was a good breeze from the east, and the course was a windward and return to a mark off Lakeview. Geo. Barnhouse took the lead at the start and was never headed, although the "Audrie" at times threatened for first place on the home run with a following wind. The "Harrier," sailed by S. Gosling, was disqualified for fouling R. Aitchison for failing to give right-of-way.

The next race will be sailed at 11:00 a.m. Sunday next when it is expected the full fleet of 16 dinghies will be at the starting line.

Many Long Shots Romp To Victory As Ascot Opened

Mahmoud Defeated by Rhodes Scholar as Only One Favorite Wins—Royalty Absent but Customary Brilliancy Present

ASCOT, England, June 17.—Ascot week opened yesterday in brilliant sunshine and an enormous, fashionable crowd gathered at the track to see a number of long shots romp home in front.

The climax of the day's upsets came when Lord Astor's Rhodes Scholar whipped the Aga Khan's Mahmoud, winner of the Derby, by five lengths in the St. James's Palace Stakes.

Although lacking the presence of royalty, the meet opened before one of the smartest and largest crowds since the war. (Owing to court mourning King Edward and other members of the royal family did not attend.)

TRAINERS DELIGHTED

Trainers were delighted with the perfect condition of the course. The well-backed horses made a dismal start. Sir Abe Bailey's Valerian, a 20 to 1 shot, won the opening event, the Prince of Wales Stakes.

Major J. B. Walker's Bouldnor won the Ascot Stakes at a similar price. Bouldnor had a margin of two lengths over Coup De Roi with Blue Girl third, a short head further back. The latter two both were quoted at 33 to 1 in the two-mile event.

Things were brighter for the bookies when Lord Astor's Early School won the Coventry Stakes. Early School was second favorite at 11 to 4 for this five-furlong event.

ANOTHER UPSET

Outsiders had another turn when James De Rothschild's Rondo won the Gold Vase. Rondo, starting at 20 to 1, led the 2 to 1 favorite, A. Gordon Smith's Fearless Fox, by 1½ lengths at the finish of the two-mile distance. The Duke of Norfolk's Bel Aethel, starting at 100 to 9, finished third, two lengths further back.

Rondo paid odds of 158 to 1 in the totalizator.

Following this the crowd greeted with loud cheers the victory of a favorite as J. H. Whitney's Night Song started at 4-1 captured the Queen Mary Stakes at five furlongs for two-year-old fillies. Night Song started at 4 to 1. The Aga Khan's Hindoo Holiday at 8 to 1 registered a thrilling win in the sixth race, leading by a short head over Caymanas. Young England was third.

The St. James's Palace Stakes saw Rhodes Scholar, carrying seven pounds less than Mahmoud, race to a five-length victory over the grey colt which won the Derby for the Aga Khan.

Rhodes Scholar was quoted at 2 to 1. Mahmoud was odds-on favorite at 5 to 11. Sir George Bullough's Daytona was third in the one-mile race.

HAIRUN FAVORED

ASCOT, England, June 17.—The Aga Khan's four-year-old colt Hairan was advanced to the favorite's position in last night's callover of odds for the Royal Hunt Cup to be run today over seven furlongs, 155 yards.

Thirty-four thoroughbreds were left in the handicap, second in importance of the Ascot meeting. Gate scratchings included the Aga Khan's Theft, R. B. Strassburger's Boethiu, Sir Abe Bailey's Japetus and H. J. Simms' Papyrette.

RAIN SHADOWS OPENING DAY AT POLO PARK

WINNIPEG, June 17.—Plenty of rain has fallen, is falling, and judging by the leaden skies, will continue to fall, so that a heavy track seems certain for today's opening at Polo Park. Owners lined up Tuesday morning to nominate no less than 133 horses for the seven events, the principal "overflows" being in the first and third contests, which attracted 15 between them.

The President's Handicap finally closed with ten accepting the weights and a great race is assured. The Hatch stable from Toronto have nominated both Sweepstaff and the 4-year-old filly Dontick. There is an interesting angle to the race inasmuch as Sweepstaff in 1934 at Whittier Park presented Joey with 15 lbs., Help Yourself with 2 lbs., Happy Jester with 14 lbs., and beat them pointless. He was only a 3-year-old then and probably not as good as he is today. Sir Gawaine is set to concede Sweepstaff 20 lbs., which means that the Hatch champion is in the race at 120 lbs., better than weight-for-age as far as the Grant horse is concerned. Of course Sir Gawaine is probably a "three class" quadruped — which means quite a lot about the much vaunted Toronto contingent for trainer Bringloe has also entered Goswin in the two-year-old scamper and Penabud in the 3-year-old inaugural purse. Their efforts will be closely noted.

Trochu Aces Win Over Acme 14-2

TROCHU, June 17.—Acme lost to the Trochu Aces by a 14-2 score in a Knee-Hill Valley League encounter on Sunday at Trochu.

As the score indicates Trochu was going good with the game helped along with many errors, found it difficult to hit their stride.

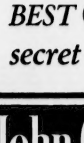

Score by innings:

Acme	010 000 010— 2 3 11
Trochu	150 304 00t—14 18 3

Senators Take Margin As Homer Belted Dropping Tigers to Fourth Slot In American League

DETROIT, June 17.—Detroit Tigers lost their fourth consecutive game when pinch-batter Carl Reynolds blasted out a 10th inning home run with two mates on base to give Washington Senators a 9-8 victory.

The Tigers could match only two of those runs in their half, one of them on Billy Rogell's home run with no one on base. The defeat dropped Detroit into a tie with the Senators for fourth place.

Fowler To Play With Maple Leafs

TORONTO, June 17. — Jimmy Fowler, young Syracuse Stars defenseman who will play with Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League next winter, has an opportunity to earn an unusual bonus. For every pound he can add before the commencement of the Leafs training grind next fall, Manager Conny Smythe will pay Fowler $100. Smythe is aiming for plenty of weight on the Toronto rearguard and at the same time Jimmy himself needs to put on a little "beef."

It was Hubbell's eighth victory of the year.

Joe Louis May Register Ring's Largest Payoff

Bomber Has Chance Of Boosting Earnings To One Million

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, June 17.—Down the sports trail:

Fantasy . . . if Joe Louis smashes Max Schmeling into defeat within six rounds Thursday night, the Brown Bomber will have written the most fantastic chapter of ring warfare in the yellowed and frayed record books.

Without winning a single title, without even meeting the current champion, the brown man with the human bombs will have carned approximately $1,000,000 for 28 professional fights in less than two years at the amazing pay-off of about $271 for each minute of actual fighting. With a shot at Jimmy Braddock's crown due in the fall, plus an unlimited future, the startling figure will be increased rapidly.

No man in the history of legalized assault and battery ever approached such a mark.

Finis . . . unless the experts are crossed up again, the fight probably will end the career of Schmeling. The Teuton, almost unmarked after 17 years of amateur and professional fighting, is a rich man. His friends say he will have $1,000,000 in cash and property after the fight.

"Yah," he told us. "If I get beat badly I quit and go home to stay."

Max will invest some of his new ring earnings in the United States, too. When he left Germany last April, Hitler allowed him to take only a few dollars over his actual travelling expenses out of Germany. Max wants to be sure he has some loose change around.

Good thing . . . to get an earful of the latest odds on the fight. We went up to Harlem, perched ourselves on a shoe shine stand and listened.

"Ah's got five dollars saved up to bet now," said one shiner.

"Go on, go on and keep saving it," piped up another negro ring swinger. "It's no good no moh. No one wants to bet again dat Bomber."

A man comes in, a rich looking white man, and offas me one to 13. Man's dat's no money. A buck agin 13."

Betting Favors Louis All the Way

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 17. — Max Schmeling and Joe Louis wound up training for their 15-round heavyweight fight in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night, there were these important developments on the New York front:

The State Athletic Commission called a special meeting today to discuss the demands of the Schmeling camp that the hands of both fighters be bandaged in the ring instead of in the dressing rooms.

Julian Black, one of Louis' managers, blasted the suggestion and said he would fight it to the limit.

"I'll abide by any rules the Commission lays down," said Black, "but I certainly am not going to keep Joe sitting in the ring for 45 minutes while his hands are taped if I can help it."

NOT A MILLION

Although the clear warm weather brought a boom in ticket sales it became increasingly apparent the gate would not hit the $1,000,000 mark.

Trained to the minute and keyed to a high pitch, Schmeling and Louis took their last serious drills at Lakewood and Napanoch today.

A crowd of 1,500 turned out to see the Bomber stage four rounds with three sparmates in his last dress rehearsal. Joe will rest until he leaves Lakewood Thursday.

Health ministers from the provinces conferred in camera with Hon. C. G. Power, minister of national health, while their deputy ministers held a separate meeting.

The ministers generally urged grants-in-aid to deal with cancer and tuberculosis problems although some were of the opinion grants for health units would be more effective.

Kent Increases Lead In Cricket

Western County Loses By Six Wickets

LONDON, June 17.—Defeating Somerset for the second time this season, Kent pulled away from its chief rivals for leadership of the English county cricket championship. The western county lost by six wickets.

Gloucestershire improved its position with a smart 97-run victory over Glamorgan and Warwickshire sprang a surprise by overcoming Essex by five wickets.

The international test trial between teams representing the north and south ended in a draw with the latter slightly ahead through a sparkling 106 by M. Turnbull, Glamorgan's captain.

Other games not in the county schedule were Oxford University and Leicestershire barely completed more than an inning each while the Cambridge-University-Free Foresters game went a little further. India shaped poorly against Nottinghamshire.

Tourney Tuesday For C.S. Netmen

Keen Battles Promised For Civil Service Tennis Titles

Tuesday next will see the commencement of the Civil Service Tennis Club's annual tournament.

Play on the courts begins the hill has been intensive with the many enthusiastic stars whipping their strokes into mid-season form for the assault on the major honors held by the burly Scot—Jimmy Heap in the men's section and the hard hitting school mistress—Bessie McAvoy in the ladies' section.

A record number of entries mark this season and the present title holders will be sorely pressed to look to their laurels with the opposition which will be provided by such stars as—Al. Blyth, Tom Chamberg, Art Stott, Harvey Normington, Doug Paris, Doug Cave, Jo Carrigan, Mary Lewis, Edna Kenwood, Mae Brown, Doris McDonald etc. A number of strong "doubles" teams have also been formed which can be rated second to none in these parts.

A novice event will be run again this season and it is hoped that all those who have not played tennis equal to the open events will avail themselves of this opportunity to gain valuable tournament experience.

Entries will close Saturday evening, June 20, and all members are urgently requested to fill in their forms and have them in the hands of the tournament committee in advance of the closing date.

Police Court

Loudly protesting a fine of $5 imposed upon him in police court by A. H. Gibson, in police court Wednesday, Henry Collinge, dairy farmer on the Cooking Lake trail, convicted on charges of selling milk in the city without a health certificate and incurring the fine to go to jail at Fort Saskatchewan for five days.

The accused after hearing the charges read to him pleaded not guilty but on the advice of his counsel, Eardley Jackson, he admitted bootlegging the milk. The court was told that the accused had stopped peddling the milk and would refrain until he secured a license.

"I can pay the fine but I won't pay it," shouted Collinge.

"In that case you will have to take the alternate and go to jail," answered the magistrate.

"That's okay by me," came the reply.

"That's okay by us, too," said Crown Prosecutor Charles Becker.

"Allright, five days at Fort Saskatchewan," concluded the magistrate.

Cyril Ellinger, official of the Edgitor Public Benefit Board, told the court that Collinge had been bootlegging milk in the city for the last three months.

"He was warned on a couple of occasions but seemed to pay no heed," said Ellinger. "He was also another member of the health board. I went out to visit the accused's farm and found the reason why he couldn't secure a license."

Asked by the reporter whether he intended to appeal his verdict, about going to jail Collinge answered loudly, "I am not. I could pay the fine, but I am taking this way of protesting at being forced into a combine."

"I would buy the license but won't sign the agreement attached to it."

Collinge, who operates a dairy on the Cooking Lake trail, milks 12 cows. The amount involved in the license required is $17.50, of which $10 is for wagon license, $5 for a barn license and $2.50 for a certificate.

Pleas by his counsel, A. H. McLeod, that the accused be allowed to go to a job at Jasper, failed to make any headway with Magistrate A. H. Gibson. Ellinger, 31, of Alix, was convicted and fined $300 and costs or three months, on charges of keeping liquor for sale.

Pleading guilty to charges of speeding that he passed from signaled Fenner, local truck driver, was fined $15 and costs. A charge of operating a truck without a drivers' license was dismissed.

* * *

"If 25 miles an hour is speeding, I'm guilty," said John MacDonald, visitor from Lamont, in answer to charges that he was speeding on the Fort trail. He managed to convince the court that he wasn't driving negligently and was acquitted.

* * *

A 30-day stretch at Fort Saskatchewan; with the option of a fine, was given Ben Kochuk, charged with creating a disturbance.

Charged with possession of firearms without a permit, Nick Buchniak has to pay one set over until Thursday, June 18.

Promising to make restitution, if given a chance to go to a job which was awaiting him in Jasper, Granville A. Bell was remanded for sentence to three charges of passing worthless cheques and one of uttering a forged document. The case remanded until October 26 for sentence. The amount involved was $36.

Pleading not guilty to charges of bootlegging milk without a license, and telling the court that he sold only a few bottles to get bread, Peter Kochuk was cautioned to refrain from the practice unless he secured a license.

* * *

Melvin Akre, the man with the habit of boarding trains without a ticket, had to pay $10 or serve 10 days Thursday. He is charged with a breach of Railway's Act.

Charges of negligent driving against Maurice Orchard, were adjourned until June 24.

Pete Gardy, charged with keeping liquor for sale had his case adjourned until June 22.

Charges of employing a truck driver without a chauffeur's license against Dench Carriage were withdrawn at the request of the crown.

* * *

J. H. Martin, reserved his plea to charges of theft by conversion, and was set over until June 18.

BILINGUAL BANK NOTES WRITTEN IN MONEY ACT

Both English and French To Embellish Notes of Exchange

OTTAWA, June 17.—Beating back two opposition attacks, the King government last night wrote provisions for bilingual currency, paper money and coin, in French and English, into the Bank of Canada Act.

As the climax to a tense and, at times, bitter debate, the government by a division of 160-43, defeated a motion by Harry Baker Cons., Fraser Valley which would have had the effect of retaining the practice of printing some bills in English, the others in French.

In this main division, four Conservatives bolted away from the party and supported the government—R. S. White (Montreal-St. Antoine-Westmount); Hon. C. H. Cahan (Montreal-St. Lawrence-St. George); Mrs. George Black (Yukon) and E. J. Wermenlinger (Montreal-Verdun). Three C.C.F. and Social Crediters split their votes.

THIRD PARTY NOW PUZZLES U.S. VOTERS

Father Coughlin Predicts Landon Will be Poor Runner-Up

NEW YORK June 17.—Puzzlement over the consequences of a possible third party campaign for the United States presidency—as well as curiosity as to the concealed identity of a potential candidate surrounded a week-end of political conjecture today.

Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, who brought the third party proposition to light but shied from naming names, contented himself for the present by asserting:

That this man the possible third-party nominee) runs, Landon will run a poor third."

The most possible candidate's platform, however, he said, "will engage the attention and merit the support of at least 20,000,000 voters."

Almost coincidentally in Chicago, Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, holding the reins of the Share-Spreaders' Party, Long's share-the-wealth clubs, proclaimed a "loose working agreement" with Father Coughlin and Dr. Francis E. Townsend. Father Coughlin's union and the forces of representative government.

Beverly Liberals To Hear Morrish

A social evening and dance will be held at Beverly Liberals in the Beverly Town Hall on Friday, June 19. Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal candidate for Beverly-Edmonton, and other prominent Liberals will address the meeting.

Entertainment on the program are being made by Dan Danilovich, one of the oldest Liberals in the district, and Prof. Walter Rose. Song recitals will be given by Mrs. Conrad Dobell, a graduate of the Riga Conservatory of Music in Latvia, and Miss Stella Turgeon. A seven-piece orchestra will play for the concert and the dance.

Yukon Women Fond Of Choice China

TORONTO, June 17.—People of the Yukon never think of locking their doors at night, George Black, M.P., told I.O.D.E. members recently, telling of the little log cabin with three or four rooms, with many of them, with electricity and running water. "And there is very little major crime, which is remarkable considering that we have all kinds of people good, bad and indifferent," she added.

"The one extravagance of the women of the Yukon is fine china," she confided. Not being able to spend money on carfare, and with no movies, at least most of those which come are about a year old," the woman spends her extra money on fine china.

Turtles Migrating

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 17.—Naturalists of the city are puzzled at the sudden migration of turtles from the Bay of Quinte to unknown points in the lower Canadian district. Wadding slowly along, large numbers of the reptiles have been seen crossing the highway headed due north and many have been killed by cars.

TRIES TO SELL BOGUS GOLD, IS PUT IN CELL

SEATTLE, June 17.—John Celtic, St. Canadian fisherman, Tuesday was jailed and accused of trying to sell gold-plated flakes of lead to the Pacific Smelting and Refining Company here. He told police today he had been duped into buying the bogus gold for $2,400 in Vancouver, B.C.

Hilkey Johnson, refining company president, said Celtic told him he smuggled the gold here because he wanted to get the higher United States price.

Robinson said an acid test showed the flakes were gold, so he agreed to pay $925 for 24½ ounces.

En route to the bank to deposit the gold, he grew suspicious and visited the United States assay office, where the "dust" proved to be lead flakes, washed in gold. It assayed only three per cent gold.

LABOR LURED HERE BY ROAD WORK RUMORS

Unemployed Arrive Seeking 10,000 Jobs That Fallow Promised

Announcement that about 10,000 more men would be put in employment on highways has caused a considerable influx of men into the cities to register for the work, it was learned on Wednesday.

In the last week alone official figures released by government sources showed more than 1,000 new applications for employment had been made.

There are now about 9,000 men registered as unemployed in the province while it is estimated there are 10,000 unemployed not yet registered.

If the increase in registration continues at the present rate for the next month or weeks the government will be flooded with applications and will be kept busy putting the men to work.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, has estimated that the government through the certificates plan, could put 10,000 more men to work.

IMPERIAL VETS PLAN TAG DAY

The Imperial Veterans' Association will hold a tag day on Saturday, June 20. The proceeds of the tag sales will be used to press claims and procure better means of hospitalization, pensions, pension appeals and such.

The club has just been newly organized in Edmonton, but active clubs have existed in most of the other larger cities in Canada, particularly in the east. While still retaining membership in the British Empire Service League, Imperialists feel that by organizing they will be able to put forth a more consident effort in their campaign for desired legislation.

The tags to be used in the tag day will carry a picture of King's head and shoulders of King Edward VIII.

Self-Mutilation Racket Alleged In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—With five persons under arrest, an intensive search was organized for two others last night in what police and Attorney Buron Fitts called a nationwide self-mutilation racket through which insurance companies have been duped of $1,000,000 a year in false accident claims.

Five Long Beach residents were arrested in connection with a local insurance case and Fitts asked Minneapolis police to arrest Nathan Kasatsky and his wife, Eva.

CITY IS SUED FOR $12,000 IN ACCIDENT

Action Brought by Two Families Following Tram-Auto Collision

Two actions were heard as one when two families opened a suit against the City of Edmonton and George Finley, street car motorman, for a total of $10,600 general and some $2,000 special damages, before Mr. Justice Ewing in supreme civil court Wednesday.

Charles Munton and Alice Munton seek damages of $5,000 general and $1,600 special for injuries received by Mrs. Alice Munton when a car, driven by Miss Mabel Munton, was struck by a street car at the intersection of 103 street and 107 avenue, December 22, 1934.

William Adam, Mrs. Minnie Adam, Cecilia Adam and Jean Adam seek $5,600 damages and special costs for injuries received by Mrs. Adam and the two girls as passengers in the Munton car.

R. D. Tighe, K.C., and Peter Greenfield, are counsel for the plaintiffs, G. B. O'Connor, K.C., and T. J. Garside for the defendants.

Mabel Munton gave evidence that, driving south on 103 avenue, she had stopped at the stop sign, then proceeded to cross the street car track on 107 avenue when one of her passengers shouted "Street car!" Then there was a crash, she said.

BLUM TO HAVE LEFTIST RITUAL

By ROBERT B. PARKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, June 17.—Crooners and cheer leaders have been drafted by French Socialists to bolster a fast-forming gaudy ritual.

A full display of the Leftist pageantry has been called for July 14 when workers celebrate the double event of Bastille Day and their new Popular Front victory. Premier Blum is determined to give the Peoples' Front signs and ceremonies to weld together a fast-forming party ritual.

Miniature Tidal Wave Does Damage On Georgian Bay

MEAFORD, Ont., June 17.—A miniature tidal wave rolled off Georgian Bay here Tuesday, lifting boats high and dry on the beach and causing considerable damage to small fishermen's docks. It all happened in about three minutes.

The wave, which was about 25 feet and a small river which empties into the bay rose 10 feet. Docks on the river bank were pulled out and motor boats were cast adrift.

Several owners of fishing boats reported minor damage to their craft.

Howard Re-elected Typo Union Chief

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17. — An official tally of the vote by the International Typographical Union Tuesday gave President Charles P. Howard of Chicago, proponent of industrial unionism, 29,482 to 21,232 for Hugh B. McGann of Houston and re-election for his seventh term as head of the powerful Isbor group.

The official tally of other votes showed that in the race for delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention, Howard received 27,407 votes.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

"Those birds are following our kite," said Duncy. "It fills me with fright. I've never seen such birds before. I wonder what they are?

"Supposing they decide to peck at us. That surely will raise heck. I hope they get tired out and cannot travel very far."

"For goodness sakes, forget those birds. You always think of real dumb words to say," replied brave Scouty. "Why, they are not harming us.

"Perhaps they like our company up here where there's not much to see. At least, they seem real friendly, so why do you fume and fuss?"

Then one bird circled 'round and 'round and made a very funny sound. The other said, "He thinks he's smart. He's entertaining you.

"Just clap and he will do some more. Wait till you see how he can soar. That's just one of the clever things I taught him how to do."

The Tinies clapped with all their might, and Goldy shouted, "What a sight! That funny bird turned on its back and flew 'round upside down.

"He's very clever, for a fact. As good as any circus act. He makes me think of Duncy, he is so much like a clown."

* * *

Just then brave Windy shouted, "Oh, we're dropping, now. Just look below. I see a very funny land, and that's where we are bound.

"If this fast dropping does not stop, we're going to take a sudden flop." The others, too, were frightened, as they started gazing 'round.

Down, down they went. And then one cried, "Here's where we end our lovely ride. We're just a few feet 'bove the earth, as you can plainly see."

"Hang on," yelled Scouty. "We're all right, as long as we cling to our kite." The next thing that they knew, they landed in a funny tree.

(Two little strangers appear in the next story.)

RUNAWAY BRIDE

By Helen Welshimer © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Two hours before the time set for her marriage, MARCIA CUNNINGHAM overhears her fiance, BOB HASKELL, saying to SYLVIA GRAHAM, "Certainly, I love you, Sylvia, but I can't afford to marry you. Marcia's father is giving me a job."

Marcia lets them know she has heard the conversation, then goes to her room. Shocked, bewildered, she slips out of the house and goes to the home of her friend, WENDA ANDREWS. She tells Wenda the marriage is off, asks her to break the news to Marcia's parents.

After Wenda leaves Marcia gets into a cab, suddenly remembers she has the tickets for the honeymoon trip to France. Impetuously she decides to sail. A young man who is a stranger helps her get on the ship just before the gangplank is raised.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

THERE were flowers in the living room of the cabin which Marcia entered—red roses and yellow roses and iris and narcissi and daffodils. There were small trays of canapes and plates of sandwiches and a big bowl of stuffed olives and another tray of olives wrapped in bacon. The cabin, quite patently, expected a party. Standing in the centre of the room, warm and comfortable with rose-shaded lights and rose-upholstered chair, that were deeply inviting, Marcia realized the room had been prepared for the brief and gala entertainment of the wedding party and its guests before the boat sailed.

There had been no wedding, no wedding party, no guests. No bridegroom. She went into the bedroom and sat down on one of the twin beds whose silken sheets were so carefully turned back.

A maid came in and offered to unpack. Marcia watched her for a minute. Then she took off her hat, ran a comb through the tawny curls, powdered her face, tilted nose, and outlined her lips with deeper red. She put on her hat again and went to the quarter-deck. Leaning against the railing, music coming from another deck where people danced their way to sea, she watched the skyline beyond grow small in the dark distance. The white buildings whose lights had made the night bright for a long time faded at last. A wind came up and with it there was a touch of rain. She began to walk, around and around and around the deck. If she could grow tired she might be able to sleep. The orchestra had burst into a "swing" tune. The trumpet was improvising as it flung its wild music down to the sea. She might have been dancing there with Bob—

Marcia went downstairs, turned on the shower, let the icy needles pelt across her lithe young body, put on the flesh-colored silk nightgown with the real Chantilly lace, and climbed into bed. There was one time in the night that she wakened and thought she had been dreaming. She was in her room at home . . . tomorrow was her wedding day . . . she turned over sleepily. Then she heard bells ringing and remembered. Ship's bells. She was sailing alone on her wedding night! The tears that had been so far away all evening came then in a hot, swift storm. When they ceased she lay back, quiet at last. She slept until the stewardess called in the morning.

"Perhaps Mademoiselle will breakfast in bed?"

Marcia stretched lazily. Why not? There was nothing for which to get up, nothing. Her body was weak and tired, as though it could be moved only through supreme effort. Yet if she stayed in bed she would think.

"I'm going to the dining room, thank you," she said.

Half an hour later, dressed in a yellow flannel sports frock whose big wooden buttons matched the brown of her polo coat and felt sports hat, she came into the dining room and sat down at her place at the first officer's table. She was late and only two or three diners remained. She had sent a cablegram to her family and had paused to watch the sunlight on the blue water. A man and woman at the table exchanged glances as Marcia was seated. She glanced at them curiously before she ordered a double orange juice, toast and bacon, and coffee.

The "Ocean News" was by her plate and she picked it up. Funny the way that news was radiogramed to ships at sea so that people might be kept informed with the news happenings in the world that they had hoped to escape—at least some of them had hoped to escape it—by going to sea. You didn't have to read the paper, of course. She put it down.

Breakfast over, she went on deck, sat down in her chair and sent a deck steward for magazines and books. Someone paused in front of her and Marcia raised lazy eyes. It was a friend of her mother's, a woman who had been invited to the wedding, who had a tongue for gossip.

"Mrs. Jameson, I didn't know you were sailing on our boat," Marcia became aware of the plural pronoun when it was too late.

The woman sat down in the next chair.

"It's the last place anyone would have looked for you, Marcia Cunninghan. But they might have known! Nobody believed you were in the conservatory with the pink eye!"

"Pink eye?" Marcia murmured. "I hadn't thought of that!"

"Don't think you can escape the public, Marcia. The story came over the radio—it's in the 'Ocean News' and the whole ship's buzzing. Tell me—why did you do it?"

What did the paper say about it?" Marcia countered.

Mrs. Jameson went on asking questions and Marcia went on dodging them as though they were arrows shot from a vocal bow. When she saw a girl and two men coming down the deck she wished that she knew them and could ask them to rescue her. One of them was familiar, a tall, tanned face, long legs—the man of the elevator! Hardly knowing that she did it, Marcia raised her eyebrows imploringly. Then she remembered that she didn't know the man. He was equal to her request, though. He excused himself from his companions stepped up, hat in hand.

"Good morning, Mrs. Jameson. I didn't know you were on board. I'm sorry to intrude. Miss Cunningham, can we interest you in some deck tennis? Or would you prefer to throw quoits?"

"You can!" Marcia answered determinedly. "You won't mind, will you, Mrs. Jameson? Deck sports are one of my chief reasons for taking a sea voyage."

* * *

When they were out of ear shot she laughed softly. "Did you take a vow to do a good deed every day or is Sir Galahad on your family tree?" she asked the young man.

"This is the second time you've rescued me."

"Neither," he answered, and she saw that his voice and smile were sure and slow. "I happen to know Mrs. Jameson!"

The morning went faster than she had hoped it would. There were a few people on the ship whom she knew casually. They were polite but curious. She became aware of the eyes that stopped when she came near. She felt her cheeks burn and her head smart. After all, if she wanted to walk out on her wedding, it wasn't the whole ship's business. She became defiant and threw the quoits so expertly she won the set.

She wondered what the people would do if she should suddenly announce that she was sorry she had run away, that she loved Bob—and Bob loved lots of people? Only of course one didn't do such things. One tossed one's head high, put on a prettier dress, and had tea served on the deck, dropping in two lumps of sugar and carefully choosing canapes and hot sausages on toothpicks as though it were of great importance what one ate.

The young man, whose name was Phillip Kirkby, drew up a chair and chatted with her at tea-time. He was an electrical engineer, just back from the Pampas where he had been assisting in a bridge construction job. He was big, not handsome, but well-built. His hair was rough and dark and his eyes were strikingly blue against the browned face. When she looked away, Marcia tried to imagine that it was Bob who sat near her—Bob whose hair was dark also and whose eyes were blue—Bob who would have covered her hand with his, and made a ceremony of dropping lumps of sugar into tea-cups—Bob whom she had left waiting for her in a room all sweet with palms and flowers and music.

She thought about him as she dressed for dinner. Dusk had swept the sea of all color and Marcia was lonely. Maybe she could have made him love her! That thought made her weak and she sat down to consider it. To have had a chance and tossed it away—to have seen a spire in paradise and refused to believe that a whole city of turrets waited beyond.

"Stop!" She stamped a foot in a fragile golden slipper. Bob was probably driving along the Lond Island way tonight, with a white moon in the sky, wash of waves against the shore, and somebody who might be Sylvia or anyone else at his side. Bob would get over it.—"What does it matter whom I m rry?"

She wanted to sink back on the bed and cry, but she didn't. Instead she went down to dinner; a slim, graceful figure in a gypsy skirted dress made of gold cloth and brown mousseline, with a bodice of gold, and half a dozen bracelets dangling on her arms. This night, when the trumpet and the clarinet and the drums swung into it, she danced, too.

Marcia laughed lightly as she went from one pair of arms to another. She knew that the men were giving her appealing looks. She was heartless in their eyes. She had left one of their kind at the altar—or almost at the altar. She had insulted their sex. They wanted to punish her, but they wanted to kiss her first. All but Phil. He was steady, reassuring, gay and kind. She was glad when he cut in.

There were acres and acres in which to stroll on the deck. There were squash courts and there was a swimming pool; there were lounges and salons, and the sun shone on bright blue water all the way. More than once, Marcia thought that she might faint at time. More than once she reminded herself that she couldn't forget — that people couldn't run away from anyone who had set up a residence in their hearts.

"In time, young lady, though your heart will turn over like a pancake when he passes, you may get back your appetite," she told herself. "That's something. After all, you used to be fond of lots of things—caramel pie and spaghetti and banana fritters and shrimp a la Newburg—." She laughed with a sense of lessening tension.

She mentioned Bob to no one until the last night out. For the sixth time she had donned a dinner dress from the trousseau. A gifted one of pale lavender silk this time. The music was softer tonight, softer and sweeter as the ship neared the coast of France. It began to rain, too, and the thunder made a background for the drums, when there were drums.

She was dancing with Phil when he said, "Let's get on deck. I need to breathe. Tomorrow I'm going to see Camilla!"

They sat in their chairs, watching the rain play darkly—on the water save when the lightning made a quick green path through the sky. They were comfortable.

"Camilla?" Marcia took up the theme.

"The girl I've loved since I knew that women had other purposes than having their hair pulled and interrupting games. I've proposed regularly and been given hope. When I came back from the Pampas the other day I found that the young lady had gone off in Paris, and the tabloid columnists are saying that a young Austrian count, an officer with the embassy at Paris, is the reason. I'm dropping in to see."

"And if it's true?"

"I'll drop out again. I'm due back in the Pampas in September anyway."

Suddenly Marcia wished that she was due somewhere, anywhere.

A deck steward came by, calling Phil's name. "Radiogram for you, sir," he said.

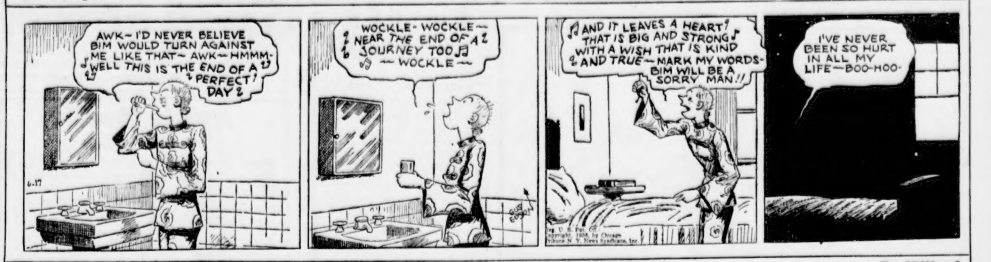

Marcia sat quietly, while he excused himself and read it by the flare of two matches. A radiogram. Already the only friend she had at sea was being drawn gently but surely into the world on shore.

He had been living for some time in the hotel, but as yet he had shown no sign of paying any part of his bill. At the end of the month the proprietor approached him on the subject. "I never pay bills until I go," said the young man haughtily. "I'm trusted everywhere—in fact, I'm one of the lions of society." The proprietor grimaced. "One of the lions!" he echoed. "Well, I've just heard from the landlord of the last place you stayed at that you're one of the 'cheetahs'."

BING CROSBY, born "Harry," in Tacoma, Wash., May 2, is typical of the care-free and gay spirit of a "3" Birth Force. That he would become a performer, was indicated by his "3."

He studied law at Gonzaga College but he liked singing better. With orchestras and in concerts, soon he won some notice and then received a radio contract which won him world-wide fame. With a "6" Heart, he possessed artistic tendencies and his "9" personality is the vibration of a performer. He married Dixie Lee, a "Nine" Birth Force, which was a happy choice for both.

Numerology says: "A Three is especially harmonious with a Nine," so it is to be expected the marriage will remain a happy one. They have three lovely children, including twins. Bing, after a great career as a crooner on radio, received a contract from Paramount Pictures and almost at once became one of the greatest box-office attractions of all time. His hobbies are writing short stories, concert music, football and boats.

If Bing believes in Numerology, he will endeavor to carry out his plans on Sunday, Monday and Friday; and will find his most fortunate dates are June 20 to July 27. His best color is green.

Sun-Kissed Beach Blossoms

After strict warning not to expose their dainty skins to the bright, hot sun—because it's so hard to apply makeup over a sun-tan—these four charming movie starlets went out and dared the tanning they're bound to get. They don't seem to be worried about it, either. Left to right, they are Paula Stone, Toby Wing, Suzanne Kaaren, and Dorothy Stone. They were attending a beach party given by Tom Brown at Santa Monica, California.

PROSPECTOR IS SUED FOR CLAIM STAKE

Sterling Collieries Seek Half of $35,000 Proceeds Of Prospecting

Suit of Sterling Collieries, Ltd., against Thomas Box and Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Ltd., for a declaration of their right to half of all monies received by Box for mineral claims staked or located in 1931 to 1933 in the Lake Athabasca area and sold to Consolidated, opened in supreme civil court, Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Ford is hearing the case the plaintiffs are represented by S. W. Field, K.C., and J. A. Tuck, the defendant Box by L. Y. Cairns, K.C.

The plaintiffs allege that they financed Box to prospect in the Lake Athabaska area in 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934, to stake claims, and that they were to receive half of any proceeds from the sale of claims.

Box denies that his agreement extended into 1934, when he located certain claims on which Consolidated drilled and for which he received an agreement from the company from which he would ultimately receive $35,000.

Thomas Powell and Fred J. Mitchell were witnesses Tuesday, the latter still on the stand at adjournment. He is secretary of Sterling Collieries and outlined agreements up to the spring of 1934, in which he stated the Collieries and Box were on a 50-50 basis.

TREKKER HAS SENTENCE IN JAIL REDUCED

Appeals of Four Other Convicted Regina Rioters Refused

REGINA, June 17.—The sentence of six months allotted to Kenneth Forsyth, relief camp trekker in a lower court, was reduced by the Saskatchewan court of appeal Tuesday to three months.

In the other four cases appealed, reductions were refused and they will serve jail terms as follows:

John Gallinger, eight and two months concurrently.

Kellett Cole, nine months.

Fred Nogami, ten and two months concurrently.

Jack Kyle, seven months.

Decision of the court yesterday afternoon was the last act in the months-long legal drama.

Tuesday morning Chief Justice Sir Frederick Haultain announced the court had decided not to reduce the sentence of Jack Weedin, convicted of rioting and sentenced to 15 months, and the sentence for assaulting a police officer, for which he received three months. His was the longest sentence imposed.

SPRANG SURPRISE

P. G. Makaroff, K.C., appealing for the trekkers, sprang a surprise when he announced the appeals against conviction would be dropped. Appeal against sentences proceeded.

Appeals of Sidney Stevens and Joe Motil were dismissed Monday and characterized by the Chief Justice as "absolutely frivolous and without merit."

Reciprocity Not Restriction On Alien Musicians

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Entrance of alien opera singers and musicians into the United States on a reciprocity basis was urged before the house immigration committee Tuesday by artists of note led by Lawrence Tibbett.

"We do not want a ban on alien artists," Tibbett told the committee. "We want reciprocity, not restriction."

Tibbett testified on the bill by chairman Dickstein of New York, designed to protect the artistic and earning opportunities of the United States for American actors, vocal musicians, operatic singers, dancers and conductors.

6 HANDSOMEST FILM ACTORS ARE SELECTED

HOLLYWOOD, June 17.—Having named the five loveliest actresses, James Montgomery Flagg, noted artist, turned his attention to the six handsomest actors Monday.

He picked Gary Cooper, George Brent, Ronald Colman, Robert Taylor, Cary Grant and Francis X. Shields.

There were murmurings among the feminine listeners. What, no Gable?

"Clark Gable is not handsome," the artist replied. "His terrific attraction comes from the fact that he is supercharged with sex appeal."

COMMUNISTS BAR SCRIBES FROM MEET

Comrade Crang's Campaign Progress Discussed Behind Closed Doors

The press was asked to withdraw from a meeting of the Communist party of Edmonton in the Haddon Hall, Tuesday evening, while Comrade Jan Lakeman reported on the work and progress being made by Comrade Margaret Crang in the election campaign.

It had been suggested by a member earlier in the evening that the press should be asked to leave, but after a vigorous protest by M. Rosen, chairman of the grievance committee of the United Unemployed Married Men's Association, that the "Communist party has nothing to hide" it was decided that no harm was being done by allowing reporters to remain.

But on the arrival of Comrade Lakeman from a meeting in Comrade Crang's committee rooms, a hurried conference with the chairman and secretary resulted in the request for withdrawal. The secretary agreed to give out a report of the meeting later, but at press time it had not arrived at the Bulletin office.

The first part of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of the difficulties the party was having with the circulation of its paper, "The Weekly Clarion." One delegate said the main trouble was that as only 50 per cent of the party members could read English it was impossible to dispose of more than half of the papers they were receiving.

HOUSING PLAN IS EXTENDED

TORONTO, June 17.—Extension of the Ontario government's experimental housing scheme with closer supervision and the expenditure of $38,500 instead of the original $25,000, was announced here last night by Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

The announcement followed a conference between the Premier, Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, and Hon. David A. Croll, minister of welfare.

By the new plan the government will construct two model workingmen's homes at a cost of $2,500 and $3,000 in each of seven Toronto suburbs. Ontario architects will be asked to submit plans and specifications for such homes.

Hon. David Croll said the new homes would not be built on mere 50-foot lots. Plenty of "breathing space" will be available to each family occupying the houses. The lands and forest department, it was indicated, would be asked to supply shrubs and trees for the beautification of the grounds.

A. J. Haliburton Heads Navy League

TORONTO, June 17.—A. J. Haliburton of Halifax was chosen president of the Navy League of Canada at the close of the annual meeting Tuesday succeeding Sam Harris of Toronto.

Other officers include vice presidents Senator Patrick Burns of Calgary. Elected members of the Dominion Council include Senator Burns, C. F. A. Lindsay of Victoria, and H. E. Sampson of Regina.

AGE LIBERAL PARTY ASSET NOT WEAKNESS

Has Wonderful Record Dr. Walter Morrish Tells Electorate

There is nothing dead or decaying about the Liberal party, declared Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal candidate in the povincial by-election when speaking on Tuesday evening. As one of the leading parties it has a wonderful record of social and humanitarian legislation in the province of Alberta, and in Canada as a whole, and while the last few years had brought about a social and economic revolution, with the experience of the past the Liberal party accepted the challenge of the new era and looked to the future, ready to combine this experience with experiment in order to meet its needs.

"The age of a party is an asset, not a weakness," said Dr. Morrish, "and the success of any government depends upon its ability to provide for the growing needs of the people."

DANGEROUS ROAD

"Experiment alone is a very dangerous road to travel. On the other hand, experience, alone while it is most valuable, is not enough. We are living in a new world, far different from the pre-war world, and far different from the immediate post-war world. A social and economic revolution has taken place in the last five years. It has been the most rapid transition in history. New forces are at work; new remedies are demanded, and new remedies are necessary. This new world has new conceptions, new ambitions, new standards of value. The fact is, that there is less reverence today for the institutions of the past than we have ever known. The status quo, even if it were desirable, can not be entirely maintained."

"The accusation against the 'old line parties' that they are too old, is frivolous and groundless. Age as applied to an institution is no fault as long as it keeps its outlook young, and makes its objective a vital living thing.

OBVIOUSLY UNTRUE

"It is said that the 'old line parties have failed in the part, speaking for my own organization, I wish to say that this is obviously untrue. Liberalism won the fight for equal legal rights—Liberalism won the fight for equal political rights. Now we face, and must win the fight for equal economic opportunity. In the province of Alberta we have gone a considerable distance. If one takes the time to examine legislation passed from 1906 to 1921, during the time the Liberal government was in power in this province, one will be amazed at the extent and character of the labor and other social and humanitarian legislation put into effect during that time.

"Those of us who are today carrying the Liberal banner, are the lineal descendants of those great men and great women who have handed down to us our present-day freedom and liberty. We realize that experience alone is not enough and there must be a union of theory and practice. Specialists should be consulted and their advice obtained, and so far as possible, their recommendations should be put into effect, in the light of experience in the past."

RAIN TOO LATE IN N. DAKOTA

BISMARCK, N.D., June 17.—Rain came Tuesday to North Dakota's parched area, too late to revive burned-out wheat crops.

Terming the drought situation "an emergency," Gov. Walter Welford called citizens to gather Saturday for enlistment of "every facility in the state to meet it." There had been little rain since June 7, when farmers in churches throughout the state prayed for relief from drought.

In the last 24 hours rain fell in the severely burned western section, but Federal Meteorologist O. W. Roberts said it could not be expected to revive wheat.

In both North and South Dakota, many wheat fields already have been abandoned and others still need rain to produce even a partial crop.

COAL CONTROL BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, June 17—Smothering opposition, the United States house of representatives Tuesday passed the Guffey-Vinson coal control bill, designed to replace the act invalidated by the Supreme court little more than a month ago. On a standing vote of 161 to 90, the measure was sent to the senate, where action upon it was hoped for before the end of the week.

Aimed at stabilization of the coal industry, chiefly through price-fixing, it would be operative for two years.

Leaders of the United Mine Workers have endorsed the measure as necessary to continuance of existing wage scales.

Senator Meighen Fetes Natal Day

OTTAWA, June 17.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate, Tuesday celebrated his birthday and was greeted with a basket of 62 roses on his desk as he took his seat.

Government Leader Dandurand congratulated the former Prime Minister. The Senator said before he entered the Senate he had always dreamed of an ideal Upper House in which the intellectual elite of the country should be represented. That dream had been realized when Senator Meighen entered it because the government leader said Senator Meighen was one of the intellectual leaders of Canada.
